Hitler Escapes Assassin

German Fuehrer Burned, Bruised

LONDON, July 20.—(CP)—Berlin announced that Adolf Hitler was burned and bruised in an unsuccessful bomb attempt on his life today. Three of Hitler's military leaders were seriously injured, while his chief military advisor Col.-Gen. Alfred Jodl was less seriously hurt along with five other generals and two admirals.

(The federal communications commission said one German broadcast said the attempt on Hilter's life was "by dynamite," another mentioned "explosives" and still a third said merely "an attempt was made on the life of the Fuehrer today, Thursday.")

The broadcast announcement did not give the scene of the attack, but it obviously took place while Hitler was surrounded by high members of the military staff—perhaps at Hitler's headquarters.

The announcement came 16 hours after Tokyo's announcement of the fall of Premier Hideki Tojo, and Berlin said Hitler after the attack received Benito Mussolini, third member of the ill-starred trio who led the Axis into war.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—The Berlin home radio said today "the would-be perpetrators of Hitler's assassination have escaped, but the police are on their trail," NBC reported.

Among the seriously injured, Berlin said, was Lt.-Gen. Schmundt, chief of the German army's personnel department and chief military aide de camp to Hitler for several years.

Two Lieutenant-Colonels named Brandt and Borgmann, and a "collaborator" named Berger also were listed as seriously injured.

Slightly injured were these:

Generals Jodl, Hitler's personal military aide; Karl Bodenschatz, aide to Hitler; Guenther Korten, chief of staff of the German air force, Buhle, Heusinger and Walter Scherff.

Admirals Voss and Von Putkammer.

POSSIBLY IN HOLLAND

A source in London with close European connections said the incident probably occurred at Breda, Holland, reported to be the headquarters of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

This same source, who cannot be identified by name, said the critical question of reserves for the German armies on three fronts had provoked a split between Rommel and Field Marshal Gen. Guenther Von Kluge, commander of the forces in Normandy. He speculated that the incident might have resulted from a general division of the German staff, resulting in a brawl.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering at once went to Hitler upon learning of what had happened, the Berlin broadcast added.

Gen. Schmundt was chief military adjutant to Hitler in the days of Munich and had since remained close to the fuehrer. He was at the Brenner Pass conference of Hitler and Benito Mussolini, March 18, 1940, which preceded Italy's declaration of war upon the Allies.

RECEIVES IL DUCE

"The fuehrer himself, besides light burns and bruises sustained no injuries," the announcement from Berlin said. "He had immediately taken up his routine work afterwards and, as it had been planned, received the Duce (Mussolini) for a lengthy discussion."

The text of DNB's original statement:

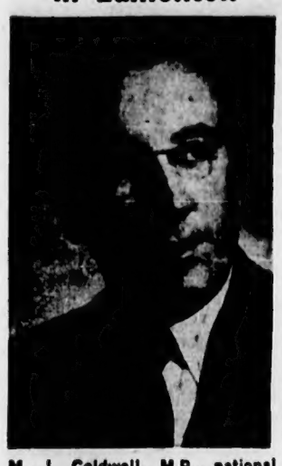

"An attempt was made on the life of the fuehrer today, Thursday. The fuehrer remained uninjured.

"The following persons of the fuehrer's entourage were severely injured: Generals Schmundt, Korten, Bodenschatz, Admirals Voss and Von Putkammer, Lieutenant-Colonels Brandt and Borgmann, and a collaborator named Berger.

"Slightly injured were: Generals Jodl, Buhle, Heusinger and Scherff.

"The fuehrer himself, besides light burns and bruises sustained no injuries. He had immediately taken up his routine work afterwards and, as it had been planned, received the Duce (Mussolini) for a lengthy discussion."

Capital Levy Is Mooted For Post-War Era

While the imposition of a capital levy is not a present policy of the CCF party the problems of the post-war period may necessitate such imposition, M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF party, stated in answer to a Bulletin reporter's query on the party's stand on a capital levy, and its implementation.

Mr. Coldwell arrived in the city Thursday morning, and will address a meeting at the Masonic Temple on Thursday evening. He will leave Friday for Grande Prairie to address meetings at the northern centre. On Saturday he will speak at Wainwright.

However, in an interview with Bruce Hutchison in Maclean's Magazine of Sept. 1, 1943, Mr. Coldwell in answering Question 22, "Are you in favor of a capital levy?" said, "Yes, I've already given my reasons in answer to Question 20."

Question 20 in Maclean's was "Bearing in mind the policy of interest-free war borrowing you have advocated, do you think that this country can continue to carry the debt incurred during the war?

Unsettled Weather Is Forecast in City

After a few days of "fair and warm" weather it would seem to be reverting to the unsettled weather again.

An unexpected shift in the wind Wednesday kept the temperature, which was expected to go over 90 degrees, down to 80 degrees. A temperature of 92 was noted at other points, namely, Jasper, Fort St. John and Peace River.

The weather forecast for Friday is "fair and somewhat cooler."

The estimated low tonight is 50 degrees, high tomorrow, 75 degrees. The temperature at 2 p.m. Thursday was 74 degrees.

Drive Through Nine Towns

British, Canadian Troops Smashing Out New Gains

By VIRGIL PINKLEY

LONDON, July 20.—The British and Canadian Second Army, hammering out a steadily expanding Normandy break-through arc, drove through nine more towns today, stormed into the streets of Troarn and Bourguebus, and sent a spearhead down the Paris road to Vimont, eight miles southeast of Caen.

Many scores of Allied tanks were smashing through the network of German fortifications on the Caen plain in wild battles of armor against the Nazis who now had massed at least five and a half divisions in a frantic effort to stem the march inland.

STORM MORE VILLAGES

British United Press correspondent Richard D. McMillan reported that British and Canadian forces stormed six more villages in the area of the break-through. Whether they supplemented or duplicated the nine announced at supreme headquarters was not certain.

The German transocean news agency said Canadian and American army forces under Lt. Gen. George S. Patton had gone into action on the Normandy front. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters had no comment.

Inside the battle arc, lying an average of four miles from Caen—with advanced positions at Troarn,

Private Money Monopoly To Doom Canada Unless Crushed, Ilsley Is Warned

OTTAWA, July 20.—(CP)—Sounding a solemn warning of Canada's impending doom unless the private money monopoly now existing in the Dominion is utterly crushed, G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal member of parliament for Vancouver Burrard, expounding his proposals for monetary reform before the Commons Banking Committee Wednesday, said that the present system meant that Canada was taxing herself out of private industry into public ownership.

In a vigorous, four-hour discussion of pressing monetary needs, Mr. McGeer called for a broad social welfare program and urged that the banking and economic system of Canada be made strong enough to stand the burden of post-war financing, and provide the purchasing power to ensure full employment.

Mr. McGeer, directing his remarks to Finance Minister Ilsley, said that unless action was taken to control the banks' credit powers the prospect was socialistic or revolutionary steps by the people to obtain what they wished.

Mr. McGeer, former mayor of Vancouver, and one of Canada's leading proponents of monetary reform, said that suffering in the depression years could be blamed on bad government based on the bad advice of "so-called" monetary advisers.

COULD TAKE OVER DEBT

In reviewing the financial picture Mr. McGeer said that if the Dominion bought out chartered bank stocks for $400,000,000, the people then would take over $3,000,000,000 in public debt held by the banks. The banking monopoly, he said, must be broken or it would break the nation.

Earlier Mr. McGeer had proposed the enlarged use of national credit, loans to the government from savings deposits and restric-

Eight New Candidates Enter Field for Legislative Seats

Eight new candidates nominated Wednesday by four political parties brought the total nominated by all parties to date for the Aug. 8 provincial general election to 160. Present party standings of candidates nominated are: Social Credit, 54; CCF, 54; Independent, 24; Labor-Progressive, 24; others, 4.

At meetings Wednesday, the Social Credit party named one candidate; the CCF, three; the Independent party, two, and the Labor-Progressives, two.

(The complete unofficial list of nominations will be found in tabulated form on Page 3.)

At a convention held at Olds, Social Credit forces nominated N. E. Cook, a farmer, sitting member for the constituency in the last legislature. Mr. Cook was first elected in the 1940 general elections.

CCF nominees included Gordon Clark in Alexandra riding; Mike O'Grady in Grouard and Victor Toane in St. Albert. Independent nominations went to two members of the last legislature, E. J. Martin in Peace River, and D. J. McKinnon, for Gleichen riding.

The Labor-Progressive party named C. J. McKenzie in Athabasca riding, and Eugene Scully in Lethbridge.

NEARLY COMPLETE

Social Credit nominations are now complete except for the three constituencies of Bow Valley-Empress, Pincher Creek-Crowsnest, and St. Paul. The CCF party likewise needs only three candidates to complete its slate, in the constituencies of Hand Hills, Pembina and St. Paul.

Jap Cabinet Resigns In Drastic Shake-Up

Emperor Hirohito today commissioned Gen. Kuniaki Koiso and former Premier Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, both known to be friendly toward the United States before Pearl Harbor, to form a new Japanese cabinet in succession to that of Gen. Hideki Tojo, which resigned en bloc after confessing it could not win the war.

Announcement by the official Japanese Domei news agency that two political "moderates" had been entrusted with the organization of a new government confirmed that the extremist military clique which put Tojo in power and engineered the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor had lost control of Japan.

The move was regarded as the first step toward an ultimate Japanese attempt to win a negotiated

Gives Denial

Premier Ernest Manning, who issued a statement Thursday denying the Social Credit Party was in any way connected with the Bloc Populaire Party. The statement was in reply to certain remarks attributed to M. J. Coldwell, CCF national leader.

Manning Says: . . .

Social Credit Is Not Helping Bloc Populaire

Replying to statements attributed to M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF party, Premier Ernest Manning today reiterated a denial that the Social Credit party is supporting the Bloc Populaire.

Repeating a press statement issued last February which denied any Social Credit connection with the Bloc Populaire, Mr. Manning said: "There has been absolutely no change in our stand on this matter. In this, as in other false accusations being made by CCF spokesmen, we are witnessing Canadian politics being dragged down to even lower depths than anything we have yet experienced."

The premier's statement also rejected CCF suggestions that the Social Credit party is anti-Semetic. It is reproduced below:

"My attention has been drawn to a press statement and certain utterances attributed to the CCF national leader," to the effect that the Social Credit party is supporting the Bloc Populaire. "It is regrettable that a man aspiring to the premiership of Canada should indulge in such tactics. As long ago as last Feb. I issued the following statement to the press on this question:

"'In order to remove any misunderstanding which may have been created by certain press statements of recent date, I wish to make it very plain that neither the Alberta Social Credit League nor the National Social Credit Association is in any way, either directly or indirectly connected with the political party known as Bloc Populaire'."

The stand of the Social Credit party has remained consistent and uncompromising for a total war effort and for the preservation of the sovereign integrity of Canada within the British Commonwealth. In this our party has had to stand alone when other political groups

Wallace Defeat Seems Assured At Convention

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Washington Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 20.—Senator Harry S. Truman, of Missouri, apparently has won the fight behind the scenes at the Democratic national convention for nomination as vice-president, second place on the ticket with President Roosevelt, running for a fourth term. Vice - President Henry Wallace's defeat seems assured by the decision of the Louisiana and Mississippi southern delegates to throw their support to Truman after War Co-ordinator James F. Byrnes withdrew from the contest at the request of President Roosevelt. Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky is also reported to have agreed to not press his candidacy for Vice-President.

37,673 Casualties For All Services

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—Canada's casualties for the war period up to the last of May totalled 37,673 including 17,022 dead, it was disclosed today in figures compiled from official sources by the wartime information board.

The last totals were announced April 25 and covered the period up to Feb. 29. At that time the casualty total was 30,538 including 14,999 dead.

Thus in the three-month period—Feb. 29 to the last of May—Canada suffered 7,035 casualties including 2,023 dead.

The latest total includes 3,665 missing, 5,136 prisoners of internees and 11,850 wounded.

Total casualties for the three services were: Navy 1,667; Army 21,689 and Air Force 14,317.

Mrs. Casselman Says Allowances Won't Cut Wages

OTTAWA, July 20.—(CP)—Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal member of the Commons for Edmonton East constituency, said last night in a broadcast that she believed the family allowances which the federal government proposes to pay will not lower the wage scales of the country.

Payment of the allowances, scheduled to begin July 1, 1945, should "make no difference to wage levels at all," said Mrs. Casselman, who shared a half-hour broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with Senator W. M. Robertson, president of the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

LONDON, July 20—(CP)—The German D.N.B. Agency, in a wholly unconfirmed reference to the Normandy fighting, claimed today that "New Allied formations brought up to the front include a replenished Canadian 2nd division which carried out the raid on Dieppe."

This claim was made in a broadcast referring to the American general, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., which said

"Further divisions of Patton's army, which consists of Canadians and Americans, are now being engaged on the invasion front. New Allied formations brought up to the front include a replenished Canadian second division which carried out the raid on Dieppe."

Allied headquarters has not yet defined Patton's role in the invasion.

Reds Start Drive From Kowel Area

LONDON, July 20.—Premier Josef Stalin tonight announced the third new Red army offensive in three days—a sweep northwestward from the Kowel area of old Poland which broke through on a 93-mile front and carried forward up to 31 miles through more than 400 communities.

To Speak Here

Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive Party, who arrived in Edmonton Thursday to speak at nominating conventions to be held throughout the province. He will address a meeting in Edmonton Saturday night. He will open his campaign at Athabasca Thursday night.

Tim Buck Says:

Reports State Social Credit To Be Elected

"Press reports and observations made since I arrived in Alberta Thursday would indicate that the Social Credit party would be returned to power in the Aug. 8 election," was the opinion expressed by Tim Buck, Toronto, national leader of the Labor-Progressive party, answering a question by an Edmonton Bulletin reporter as to the outcome of the election.

He said that the Labor-Progressive party would win several seats, marking a further advance of the party's march to national importance.

Mr. Buck said that his party had a real contribution to make toward problems in the post-war period. Contrary to M. J. Coldwell's point of view the Labor-Progressive party believes that changes in the social system will come through prosperity and is not dependent on depressions as Mr. Coldwell seems to think.

He said that Mr. Coldwell has done a disservice to the country and the labor movement when he preaches there can be no progress under the profit motive. He helps defeatism, Mr. Buck said, when he preaches that there must be a depression following the war unless the profit system is abolished.

Commenting on the Quebec situation Mr. Buck said there was a very confused situation there. A very large number of persons in Quebec have no desire for a change in the social system, and are not interested in socialism or even advanced social reform.

The Bloc Populaire, through appeal to racial prejudices and promising economic reform, is rallying considerable support, Mr. Buck stated.

The policy of the CCF of "making a milch cow out of trade unions for political purposes," was condemned by Mr. Buck. This policy, he added, will result in a splitting and demoralizing of the trade union movement into CCF unionists and non-CCF unionists.

Heavy Bombers Blast Targets Deep in Reich

By WALTER CRONKITE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, July 20—Two great American fleets totalling some 3,000 planes smashed at a dozen Nazi war plants and airdromes today in a two-way onslaught from Italy and Britain which scattered destructive bomb loads through Munich, Leipzig, Friedrichshafen and other cities.

More than 1,200 Fortresses and Liberators of the Eighth Air Force with a formidable fighter escort swept from Britain deep into central Germany to hit at least eight prime targets while the 15th Air Force heavyweights hopped over the Alps from Italy and plastered five or more objectives around Munich and Friedrichshaven.

The pincers assault from west and south covered key centres in most of central, western and southern Germany.

WIDESPREAD TARGETS

The Eighth Air Force bombers and fighters flew over scattered cloud formations and found good hunting among aircraft, ball bearing and synthetic oil plants strung through Germany from the Rhineland to Leipig, 90 miles south of Berlin.

In some quarters they ran into stiff German resistance. It was the most stubborn in the skies over the Junkers engine factory at Dessau, where more than 100 Messerschmitts rose to challenge the raiders during their bomb runs.

Mustang fighters tore into the German formation, and one of the biggest dogfights in weeks broke out. Outnumbered about two to one, the Mustangs broke up the attack on the bombers, and one pilot said he saw six enemy fighters go down under the first Mustang sweep.

Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle sent out nearly 2,000 planes of his Eighth air force against Germany for the second straight day of smashing blows at the Nazi potential in the homeland.

Nazi broadcasts reported violent air battles between German defence squadrons and the American raiders over a broad stretch of central and western Germany.

LONGEST RAID

The maximum penetration of the long-range mission by Flying Fortresses and Liberators carried to the sea of Leipzig, big Saxony rail and industrial centre 90 miles southwest of Berlin, where the main target was a ball bearing plant.

Other formations of the heavy bomber fleet struck at aircraft engine factories in Dessau and Eisenbach, Messerschmitt assembly plants at Leipzig-Mackau and Gotha, an air components and motor transport factory in the Usselheim suburb of Mainz, and the Leuna synthetic oil plants at Merseburg and Lutzkendorf.

British bombers late yesterday delivered another heavy blow on the German robot bomb bases in northern France, following early concentrated attacks on enemy communications behind the battle lines and deep into France.

peace, though no immediate peace bid was anticipated.

TO INTENSIFY FIGHT

Sources familiar with the Japanese political situation suggested the new cabinet would attempt to intensify the Japanese war effort, then give way to another government within the next few months as Allied successes in the Pacific mount. Only when a wholly civilian government comes into power, these sources believed, will Japan make a real effort to withdraw from the war.

Domei broadcasts heard by U.S. Federal Communication Commission monitors said that Koiso, Governor-General of Japanese-occupied Korea, and Yonai, Premier from January to July, 1940, had been ordered by Hirohito to an audience in the imperial palace at 5:10 p.m. Japanese time today to "form the succeeding cabinet in co-operation."

"They received the honor with great trepidation and departed from the imperial presence," Domei said.

Another Domei dispatch said that "important news" was expected later tonight, but did not indicate its nature.

POSSIBLY 2 PREMIERS

The wording of the Domei dispatches indicated that Japan for the first time in history may have two premiers at the helm of the government at the country's admittedly gravest hour.

If so, this would indicate that Hirohito had decided to force the army and navy to share equal responsibility for the defence of the homeland against American air, sea and ground forces gradually tightening a stranglehold on Japan's home islands.

"At this time, when the sheer stress of events is uniting the overwhelming majority of Canadians on these vital matters, and when, despite the favorable trend of the war, the future is fraught with grave peril for our country and the British Commonwealth, it is deplorable that any political group in Canada should seek to detract from our war effort and to fan the latent flame of sectionalism'.

NO CHANGE

"Since that statement was issued there has been absolutely no change in our stand on this matter. In this, as in other false accusations being made by CCF spokesmen, we are witnessing Canadian politics being dragged down to even lower depths than anything we have yet experienced. It is deplorable that this kind of thing should be disgracing our national public life at such a critical time in world affairs.

"It has also come to my attention that the C.C.F. national leader is endeavoring to give the impression" that the Social Credit party is anti-Semetic. Such efforts indicate a complete disregard for truth and reveal an inexcusable ignorance of the facts.

The Social Credit party has as its one clear cut goal and objective the establishment of a properly functioning true political and economic democracy in which all men, irrespective of color, race or creed will enjoy a full measure of Social and economic security with the maximum of individual freedom.

"Social Credit is diametrically opposed to all racial or religious prejudices and dissension and to the persecution or oppression of any individual race or religious group. Only under the properly functioning true and economic democracy for which Social Crediters everywhere are striving will all men irrespective of their race or religious beliefs or their social status be enabled to have and enjoy the full measure of security with complete and individual freedom to which all men are entitled."

Attempt Made On Hitler's Life: Aides Injured

ly injured: Lt. Gen. Schmundt, Col. Brandt, Lt-Col. Borgmann and Collaborator Berger.

"Slightly injured were Col. Gen. Jodl, Generals Korten, Buhle, Bodenschatz, Hausinger and Scherff and Admirals Voss and von Puttkame.

"The fuehrer himself suffered no injuries apart from slight burns and contusions.

"He resumed work at once and, as planned, received the Duce (Mussolini) for a lengthy conversation. Not long after the attack the Reichmarshal (Goering) arrived."

GRAVE DISSENT

Only yesterday, the Russian press published a statement by the captured commander of the 41st German army tank corps, Lt.-Gen. Edmund Hofmeister, saying there was grave dissent in ranks of the German high command, with old generals dissatisfied with Hitler's strategy in refusing to retreat.

It was the second time, at least, during the war that Hitler narrowly missed death.

The first time was on Nov. 8, 1939, when a bomb exploded in the Munich beer hall just after the fuehrer had left a celebration marking his ill-fated putsch of 1923.

The Berlin broadcasts did not immediately name the time or place of the bombing attempt. Hitler has been reported spending a great deal of his time at Berchtesgaden. The captured General Hofmeister said it was there that Hitler recently held a conference of 150 generals and admirals to outline his strategy. The Hofmeister statement, as published in Moscow, described Hitler then as of swollen face, of low and jumbled voice.

For a dictator, however, Hitler's life has been singularly free of recorded attempts to assassinate him.

NOTABLE EPISODE

The most notable episode developing from internal opposition to Hitler was in June, 1934, shortly after he had taken power in Germany, when he led the ruthless "blood purge" of Capt. Ernst Roehm and his associates.

Roehm's movement was described as a "rebellious riot" in the Reichstag session which Hitler summoned to hear his accounting.

Helmuth Hirsch, a 21-year-old Jew, was arrested Dec. 20, 1936, however, on what informed persons in Berlin at the time said were charges of carrying explosives for the purpose of making an attempt on the life of a high German personage. Berlin dispatches at the time said his intended victim may have been Hitler.

AMERICAN CITIZEN

Hirsch was executed despite intercession on his behalf by the United States government. Hirsch was a naturalized U.S. citizen, who was arrested at Berlin upon his arrival from Prague, Czechoslovakia.

In the Munich beer hall bombing, Hitler left the hall just nine minutes before a time bomb exploded in a pillar of the hall near the rostrum where he had spoken to his party followers. Six persons were killed and more than 60 injured in the blast.

An arrest was made for the bombing, but Berlin authorities never announced the outcome of their investigation. At the time the Gestapo attempted to pin responsibility on British agents.

UNVERIFIED REPORTS

Aside from the blood purge events of 1934, when Edmund Heines, one of those whom Hitler attempted to arrest, was said to have rushed at the dictator with a revolver only to be killed by a Nazi gunman, there have been these unverified reports of attempts on the German leader's life:

On Jan. 7, 1935, reports from Munich and Berlin said two storm troopers attempted to shoot Hitler in his chancellery the week before. It was variously reported that Hitlers chauffeur was killed or wounded, and it was noted that subsequently Hitler had a new chauffeur.

When Hitler rode triumphantly into the Sudetenland in October, 1938, after Munich, his face was scratched by a bouquet of roses thrown into his automobile. The incident brought an order against showering him with flowers, and a Nazi editor pointed out that a bouquet could hide a bomb.

MANY PRECAUTIONS

Elaborate precautions have been taken to safeguard his life. He habitually rode in an armored train which Nazis boasted could not be wrecked by a mine when he made journeys by rail. His automobile was armored, and just before the war he had taken to speaking behind bullet proof glass placed in front of the rostrum when making public appearances.

The precautions taken by the Gestapo in guarding him have been the most spectacular of any security force in Europe, if not the world.

of offensive battle advanced 31 miles, widening their breach to 93 miles," Stalin said in an order of the day addressed to Rokossovsky.

Among the captured towns were Ratno, 46 miles southeast of Brest, Litovsk and Lyuboml, 30 west of Kowel.

LINKS BATTLE ZONES

The new drive linked Rokossovsky's battle zone with that of Marshal Kivan S. Konev, whose first army of the Ukraine was pushing across the Bug river directly to the south and closing against Lwow.

At the other end of the front, Berlin reported heavy fighting only eight miles from the frontier of East Prussia.

Nazi broadcasts reported that Soviet forces had pushed to Augustow, 38 miles northwest of Grodno and on the border of the Ksuwalki triangle eight miles from the soil of Germany proper.

"Our troops see Lwow," the Russian government newspaper Izvestia was quoted in a British United Press dispatch from Moscow. "Now our tanks have started forward to attack the city."

Lwow, the biggest German base on the southern route to Berlin, already was under fire from Soviet artillery, and Red army shock troops were closing in for the final assault on the nine-way rail hub.

SWARM ACROSS BUG

North of Lwow the right wing of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's first army of the Ugraine already was swarming across the Bug river into the part of Poland from which Adolf Hitler launched the invasion of Russia.

Moscow and Berlin reports agreed that Soviet armies were driving forward in all key sectors of the battlefront from the upper Baltics to lower Poland and threatening half a dozen key bases vital to the Nazi defences.

The Nazi report of violent fighting at Augustow, directly before lower East Prussia, was the first sign of a Soviet drive to the immediate environs of the German province.

The flat country between Augustow and the border offered no obstacle to the Russian advance, and all indications were that the Germans had abandoned hope of stemming the Soviets short of the frontier.

FALL OF KAUNAS NEAR

Farther north the Russians already had completely outflanked Kaunas, pre-war Lithuanian capital and with Grodno fallen, the second of two main bases guarding East Prussia. The fall of Kaunas appeared imminent on the basis of Berlin reports that the Russians were poised south and east of the city for a major assault.

Midway between Lithuania and Lwow, other Russian forces were closing on Brest Litovsk from positions less than eight miles away, and the early storming of Bialystok from a springboard less than 25 miles distant was in prospect.

Konev's offensive in south Poland, one of the most sensational of the several mounted by the Red Army in its summer push toward Germany, was reported from Moscow to have split the German front wide open in one of the great strategic victories of the war.

Soviet front reports said the Germans had concentrated large forces along the Bug to protect the area claimed by the Nazis in 1939. They counter-attacked vigorously, but were overrun by the Soviet steam roller which reduced the strength of some Nazi battalions by half.

As many as 450 German tanks were in action against Konev's army in a single day, the dispatches said, adding that 50 of them were destroyed and the remainder turned back.

Capital Levy Is Mooted For Post-War Era

Mr. Coldwell's answer was: "The experiences of the last war and the years which followed the Armistice show that the heavy debt charges interfered greatly with social legislation and conditions. Time and again necessary assistance to unemployed workers and drought-stricken farmers was refused on the plea that the interest charges were a more sacred obligation than the duty to the people. It is for this reason that the CCF has advocated interest free borrowing in order that the same excuse may not exist after this war.

HEAVY TAXES

"Continuance of heavy taxes on high incomes, increased death duties earmarked to retire public debt and/or if necessary, a levy on large accumulations of wealth would relieve the burden."

He said that there had not been a declaration of the CCF party on the question of a capital levy. He added that the party's current program was outlined to the electorate, and a mandate asked to carry it out. At the end of the life of that parliament, if the CCF was elected, the electors would be asked for their judgment on the government's record and for endorsation of its further policies.

HEAVY DEBT

Dealing with the question of the imposition of a capital levy, Mr. Coldwell said that if the war were to end now, the national debt would be approximately sixteen billions of dollars, or five times the debt when Canada entered the war.

This debt is distributed throughout Canada through Victory loan bonds held by the small investor. They will have to liquidate these bonds at the conclusion of the war, he added, and they will then pass to a few corporations and individuals.

This will mean, said Mr. Coldwell, that the mass of the population will be paying tribute to the small, powerful financial groups.

This, he said, can be remedied through, firstly, the imposition of very highly steeply graduated taxation of accumulated wealth, and probably placing a ceiling on high incomes, the second alternative, if this plan did not work, Mr. Coldwell said would be the imposition of a capital levy.

Asked what action a CCF government would take if individuals or groups would not co-operate in its planned economy program Mr. Coldwell said the CCF did not intend to govern from a dictatorship at the top, but rather through a democratic understanding of problems arrived at through boards or commissions comprised of members of the industry affected.

Mr. Coldwell said that the political atmosphere in Alberta was similar to that in Saskatchewan. He said that although the landslide achieved in the neighboring province would not be repeated here, he anticipated that the C.C.F. would have the largest group in the legislature after the Aug. 8 election.

Two From City Hurt in Crash

VANCOUVER, July 20.—(CP)—Lt.-Col. C. W. Steele of Vancouver, with the Canadian Dental Corps and dental officer of Western Air Command, was one of six airmen killed when a Royal Canadian Air Force transport plane crashed while taking off from a west coast station Tuesday, Western Air Command announced yesterday.

The pilot of the plane, Flt. Lt. T. E. Daniels of Gardenia, Calif., was also killed. Others dead include: FO. William J. Curtis, Vancouver Flt. Lt. Wallace D. Stroud, Toronto; WOI L. C. Rideout, Vancouver, and Sgt. C. D. Kippan, Vancouver.

Sgt. E. J. Hillard of Toronto, Skipper V. M. Olsen, R.C.N.V.R., Vancouver, and LAW. G. E. Dalton of Edmonton were seriously injured.

Slightly injured were: Flt. Sgt. James H. Pigden, Eburne, B.C.; LAC. C. H. Wallace, Caledon East, Ont.; Cpl. O. N. Perry, East Kelowna, B.C.; LAW. B. M. Hartley, Edmonton, and Flt. Sgt. S. Jurmain, of Prince Rupert, B.C.

LAW. G. E. Dalton is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William White, 10026 87 avenue. Her husband, PO. George W. Dalton, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Dalton, 11930 98A street, was reported missing and presumed dead in operations overseas in 1943. She has been in the R.C.A.F. for one year. Her father is a C.P.R. locomotive fireman and is now on vacation at the Pacific coast. She was employed as a bookkeeper with the National Trust Company here prior to enlisting.

LAW. B. M. Hartley is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith, 10013 83 avenue. Her husband, PO. Charles Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hartley, of Edmonton, was reported missing in overseas R.C.A.F. air operations April 10, 1944.

Now 24 years old, LAW. Hartley was born in Edmonton, educated at King Edward public school, and enlisted in the R.C.A.F. women's division about one year ago. She has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. O. B. Taylor, in Victoria. The skipper of the aircraft, Flt. Lt. T. E. Daniels, was known in Edmonton where he was stationed for six months with the R.C.A.F. He stayed with Flt. Lt. C. R. Sandison and Mrs. Sandison, 11240 126 street.

Urges Fair Tax On Gold Mining

OTTAWA, July 20. — (CP) — Joseph A. Bradette (L—Cochrane), left his post as deputy speaker and chairman of committees in the House of Commons yesterday to urge fair and more moderate tax treatment of the gold mining industry.

One of the provisions of the budget extends for one year the 40 per cent. tax credit granted last year on contributions made by taxpayers to associations, syndicates and partnerships organized to prospect for base metals.

Mr. Bradette said the credit should be available also on investments in prospecting for gold.

George Black (PC—Yukon) urged that the credit be extended also to contributoins made to an individual prospector's "grub stake."

He was supported by Howard Green (PC—Vancouver South) who said most of the mines found in British Columbia were found by individual prospectors.

W. K. Esling (PC—Kootenay) said reduction in British Columbia mining activity emphasized the necessity for development of new mine resources.

Allied Troops Storming Two Nazi Bastions

seven miles to the east, and Vimont eight miles to the southeast—the British and Canadian troops captured Ifs, Cormelles, Bras, Hubert-Folie, Soliers, Four Le Poirier, Cagny and Grentheville.

CONSOLIDATE HOLD

A headquarters spokesman said the Allied infantry and tanks had consolidated their grip on the nine villages while Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's armor wove through the no man's land bursting out German strong points and turning back enemy thrusts.

The easternmost point of the Allied advance was within 1,000 yards of the river Muance, which flows east of Troarn and forms the first appreciable water obstacle east of the Orne.

The German garrison was putting up a stiff fight at Troarn, but the British were battering in from the west, and had consolidated commanding positions above nearby Emieville.

Meagre reports from the American front said the First Army had completed the mop-up of the Vire river bend northwest of St. Lo and established outposts a few hundred yards southwest and southeast of the captured fortress city.

British troops bolstering the right wing of the drive beat the hard-fighting Germans back steadily in the Noyers sector southwest of Caen, overrunning strategic positions including valuable high ground and capturing the village of Landelle, a mile west of Noyers which still was in German hands.

British tanks spearheading the Caen break-through were revealed to be under the command of Lt. Gen. Sir Richard (Rory) O'Connor, who was captured in Libya in 1941 and escaped two years later to resume his military career.

LED DESERT FORCE

O'Connor commanded a force in the western desert under Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell. He was captured near Derna along with Gen. Philip Neame. Last January it was disclosed that an air marshal and two generals had escaped. Now they are identified as O'Connor, Neame and Air Marshal Owen T. Boyd.

On the American front Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's First Army advanced west of St. Lo, and swung southeast from points northwest of the captured town, closing a loop in which a few German rear guards remained.

Above St. Lo, just west of Remilly-Sur-Lozon, the doughboys pushed along a tiny stream and captured the villages of La Varde, Thiebots and L'Ange.

Front dispatches carrying forward the delayed reports at headquarters indicated that British assault forces had taken the rail station of Troarn, seven miles east of Caen, and were battering through the streets of the strategic village which was in Allied hands briefly earlier in the campaign.

REACHED LAST NIGHT

The British reached the outskirts of Troarn last night, McMillan reported. An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the front said they now were charging in against fierce opposition, while other units penetrated Bourgebus and fought in the streets of the highway junction five miles southwest of Caen.

The maximum advance down the trunk highway to Paris carried to Vimont, eight miles below Caen and five miles south of Troarn. Behind the British lay the rubble-strewn ruins of a dozen villages and strong points almost blasted out of existence by the impact of the armored drive and the record aerial bombardment which paralyzed the German defences at the outset of the break-through assault.

The battlefield with the break-through area "looks like nothing any soldier ever saw," McMillan reported. He quoted a tank crewman as saying:

ERIE BATTLEFIELD

"It seems to us more like a battlefield amidst the craters of the moon. It is really erie, with its bomb craters, empty villages and pockets of German dead."

An earlier dispatch from McMillan said there still was fighting around the villages of Cumverville, Bigerville, Saunderville, Bannerville, Campagne and Cagny, but "these are only names, because the places themselves are mortuaries. These villages are like a chain of cemeteries, happily it is mainly German dead."

At least 10 British and Canadian armored prongs were probing inland in spearheading or shooting off from the four main pushes encompassing the entire broad battle arc.

CAN WHEEL INLAND

Once the British capture Troarn and secure the left flank, Montgomery will be in position to wheel inland to excellent tank country stretching south and southeast as far as Falaise, 20 miles southeast of Caen.

The Normandy weather yesterday and today was described officially as "miserable," denying the ground forces any big-scale air support. It was better in other parts of France, and Allied planes shot up 27 locomotives and about 200 freight cars in widespread operations extending from Bordeaux to Paris.

Germans Retreat Across Arno River Before Pisa

By JAMES E. ROPER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

ROME, July 20.—Hastily-retreating Germans fell back across the Arno river before Pisa today as American troops of Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army established a 25-mile front along the south bank of the river, nine miles north of Livorno.

The Germans put up only small arms resistance and light artillery fire as they fled northward so rapidly the Americans barely were able to maintain contact with enemy rear guards.

Despite the withdrawal across the Arno, necessitated when the Americans cleared the town of Colle Salvetti and took the hill masses overlooking the river, the Germans were expected to make a strong stand from the north bank in defence of Pisa.

The drive to the Arno was accompanied by advances all across the Allied line to the Adriatic, where armored troops of the Eighth army thrust inland to establish a bridgehead across the Esino river, 10 miles northwest of newly-captured Ancona.

The drive gave the Eighth Army a solid six-mile front on the south bank from the mouth of the river. The main forces which captured Ancona pushed ahead three miles against stiffening opposition as they approached the German Gothic line.

Polish troops, the first to enter Ancona, found the port city demolished by the retreating Germans, with the harbor full of sunken ships, including the king's private yacht.

In the Arezzo sector, Eighth Army troops overcame fierce resistance to take Laterina and Castiglion, both north of the Arno, and about nine miles above Arezzo.

Coldwell Outlines Plans For Alberta

CALGARY, July 20—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF said yesterday in an interview there is no difference in the CCF policies for Alberta and the program outlined by the CCF government in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Coldwell said he could not outline a complete plan for Alberta because that was a matter for a CCF provincial government to decide, but he believed one of the first steps a CCF government would take would be to assume ownership of the power system.

The oil industry, he said, would be another industry for socialiatzion and suggested the brewing industry might also be socialized.

Mrs Coldwell said he favored long-term trade agreements with other countries, such as Britain, by which other nations would take Canadian products in return for theirs, always on a fair return to Canadian producers.

Wallace Defeat Seems Assured At Convention

world organization to prevent future aggression with "military force" if necessary.

"NEGRO" PLANK

The committee also, after a bitter fight extending into this morning, appears to have compromised on a "negro" plank promising enforcement of the constitutional equal rights of the colored race. This was violently opposed by the southern delegates who are still making a last minute stand against it. They offered the final compromise of having the platform remain silent on the subject, giving up the demand for a declaration in favor of states rights to handle the colored problem in their own individual way. But this did not satisfy the northern delegates.

Vice-President Henry A. Wallace still professes his belief that he can be re-nominated and his friends still claim more than 300 votes pledged or promised, but, as 589 are required to nominate, the opposition of the bulk of the southern delegates seems to indicate defeat.

One factor undoubtedly has been the publicity attendant on the activities of Sidney Hillman, violent supporter of Mr. Wallace, and head of the C.I.O. political action committee. Mr. Hillman's reputed declaration that the C.I.O. would not stand for nomination of any southerner for vice-president, has aroused strong resentment among many more or less neutral delegates.

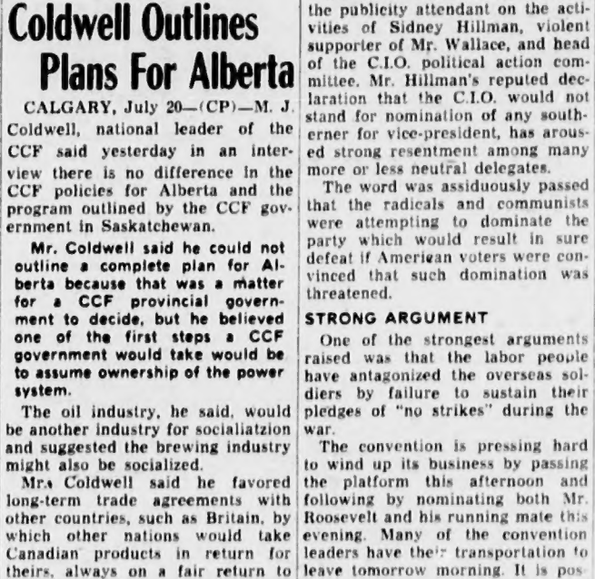

The word was assiduously passed that the radicals and communists were attempting to dominate the party which would result in sure defeat if American voters were convinced that such domination was threatened.

STRONG ARGUMENT

One of the strongest arguments raised was that the labor people have antagonized the overseas soldiers by failure to sustain their pledges of "no strikes" during the war.

The convention is pressing hard to wind up its business by passing the platform this afternoon and following by nominating both Mr. Roosevelt and his running mate this evening. Many of the convention leaders have their transportation to leave tomorrow morning. It is possible the convention faces a near all-night session in its attempt to make a record of a short, wartime convention.

Canada's Doom Is Seen Under Money Monopoly

tion of powers of the chartered banks.

He spoke to an amendment in which he asked that it be unlawful for any chartered bank to create and issue bank deposit credit in place of currency or coinage except with the consent of a board of the governor of the Bank of Canada, the minister of finance and the prime minister.

SUPPORTED BY SLAGHT

Mr. McGeer spoke with the support of Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Liberal member of the Commons for Parry Sound, Ont., who has backed Mr. McGeer in frequent discussions in the committee.

Pointing to numerous financial undertakings that could be launched after the war, Mr. McGeer offered facts and figures for the consideration of the committee and minister of finance.

The tourist traffic possibilities must be expanded, he said. There could be a causeway across the Strait of Canso, a tunnel to Prince Edward Island, and expenditures in Quebec to allow tourists to visit beauty spots in that province.

BEAUTIFUL SETTING

Ottawa had the "most beautiful setting of any capital in the world" within easy holiday driving distance of 60,000,000 people. From $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 could be spent in the Ottawa district and it would be a sound investment. There was a 25-year plan to improve Vancouver and other cities had similar programs.

The entire transportation system was obsolete and Montreal should have a tube system. Waterpower developments were necessary and the shipbuilding industry should be maintained.

Whether the cost was $1,000,000,000 or $1,500,000,000 there must be an economic structure suitable for those returning from was service.

SAILING "RIVER OF DEBT"

Mr. McGeer said he was not advocating unbalanced budgets, but under the present system the country was sailing "the river of debt" and would end in the "whirlpool" of unemployment and class dissension. Votes since 1940 had shown the people were not satisfied.

"Mass usury is in control," he said.

"How would you finance the war without going into debt?" asked Mr. Ilsley. "I have never understood that—how it could be done."

Mr. McGeer said he would avoid creating the debt. The issue of Bank of Canada cash at present "bonused" the private banks.

"You supplied the banks with cash that they used as a reserve to permit them to increase bank deposits and purchase your government securities," he continued.

"Was there ever a device more cleverly designed by which a government could bonus a great monopoly?"

The money could have been issued by the government itself for government use.

He said he believed that in British Columbia shipyards more ships could have been built with one-third less men at lower cost if a proper taxation system had been used. Men had been lined up ready to leave work at 4:45 p.m.; there had been absenteeism in lumer camps and there were other examples of the effect of the taxation system. Persons in public life should be ready to acknowledge mistakes in financial policy that had been made.

After exhausting wartime taxation possibilities, Mr. McGeer said he would ask the people who had savings deposits totalling $2,000,000,000 to loan their money to the government.

Mr. Ilsley said he believed the only possible policy had been followed in financing the war, and he did not see how debt and taxation could be avoided.

"COMPULSORY LOAN"

Mr. Ilsley said the issue was that Mr. McGeer, instead of borrowing from the chartered banks to the extent necessary, would borrow from the Bank of Canada and have the banks hold 100 per cent. reserves on the deposits which would be created by the government borrowing from the Bank of Canada. The proposal in respect to savings deposits was "just a compulsory loan."

Mr. McGeer said the country could compel a man to go to the front line to fight and the loan of financial resources surely could also be compelled.

Mr. Ilsley: "Don't go off the deep end. You are suggesting we compel savings bank depositors to loan part of their deposits to the government. I said that meant a compulsory loan. I did not condemn it; I was describing it. It would have practically no economic significance in any event."

Mr. McGeer said he believed the majority of the people would agree to give such savings loans. They would have the security of Dominion and provincial governments behind their deposits.

There should be some other way of financing than by discounting national bonds.

Fourteen More Jap Vessels Destroyed By U.S. Submarines

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Destruction of 14 more Japanese vessels, including two combatant ships, by American submarines pounding enemy supply lines was announced by the navy yesterday.

The sinkings bring to 806 the number of Japanese vessels sunk probably sunk or damaged by American submarines.

Of the total, 654 ships definitely have been sunk, 37 probably sunk and at least 115 damaged. The navy, for several months, has not announced the damaging or enemy ships by submarines and that figure undoubtedly is greater now.

"They are entitled to support of an overwhelming majority of the electorate of Canada at the polls, when they submit their record and proposals to the people, as they must do in the not far distant future."

WON'T REPLACE WAGES

Mrs. Casselman said the allowances, which would range from $5 a month for a child of less than six years to $8 a month for a child from 13 to 16 years, would help the small wage earner, but would not take the place of wages. Wage levels should remain unchanged.

Industry had never found a way to pay more money to the father of a family of six than it did to a 20-year-old bachelor. Collective bargaining and minimum wage laws would protect salaries of workers in industry.

However, some 40 per cent of the Canadian people were not employed in industry. They were farmers and shopkeepers and independent workers and they needed help for big families.

HELP LOW INCOMES

Mrs. Casselman said the allowances would be of most benefit to those who do not earn enough to pay income tax and to those in the lower income tax brackets. The last census showed that 62 per cent. of Canada's workers, including 14-year-old wage earners, earned less than $1,000 a year.

Some parents might use the allowances for their own rather than their children's benefit, but these cases would be isolated and would be dealt with quickly.

Social Director

TORONTO, July 20—(CP)—Dr. Harry M. Cassidy, director of training for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration at Washington, has been appointed director of the University of Toronto's School of Social Work, Dr. H. J. Cody, university president, announced last night. He will take up his duties in a few months.

British-Built Corvettes Join Canada's Navy

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—Canada's naval escort forces have been strengthened by the addition of 16 British-built corvettes while Canadian shipyards are turning out 16 "Algerine" class fleet minesweepers for the Royal Navy in exchange, Navy Minister Macdonald announced last night.

The "trade" results from an agreement reached between the British and Canadian governments last year, Mr. Macdonald said in a statement.

Mr. Macdonald said 12 of the new corvettes were of the "Castle" class, a type new to the Royal Canadian Navy and much improved over the "Flower" class corvette. They are larger and more powerfully armed than the standard type of corvette.

REVISED DESIGN

The remaining four corvettes are of revised "Flower" class design, representing the most up-to-date modification of the corvette design which played such an important role in the Battle of the Atlantic.

Ships already commissioned and ready for service, together with the names of their commanding officers, include the following:

Revised "Flower" class corvettes —H.M.C.S. Giffard, Lieut. G. H. Matheson, Victoria.

"Castle" class — H.M.C.S. Orangeville, Lieut. F. R. Pike, Edmonton; H.M.C.S. Arnprior, Lieut. Stuart D. Thom, Regina.

The remaining four ships of this class will be commissioned shortly.

Alberta's Labor Laws

Alberta's labor legislation is admittedly the most advanced in Canada. Legislative action has been taken, in a broad progressive way, to provide for fair wages, reasonable hours of work, payment of wages earned, collective bargaining, settling labor disputes, safe working conditions and safeguarding the health of workers.

These provisions cover all classes of labor including women workers.

Labor legislation introduced by the Manning government includes:

The Male Minimum Wage Act of 1936 which was the first general wage order in Canada. This act sets a basic wage for all except farm and domestic labor.

The Hours of Work Act of 1936 which sets forth a schedule of hours and provides a weekly day of rest.

The Tradesmen's Qualification Act of 1936 which protects skilled tradesmen and the public from inferior competition and workmanship and assures safety measures to protect workers from injury while working and protects public safety while using services or products of skilled labor.

The Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act of 1938 grants to labor full collective bargaining rights, protects workers against discrimination and provides for the conciliation and arbitration of labor disputes.

The Industrial Wages Security Act of 1938 provides a guarantee for the payment of wages of workers in coal mines.

The Trades School Regulation Act of 1941 protects students from inferior instruction by setting up standards required of trades schools whether practical or by correspondence. This legislation has been widely copied in other provinces.

The Labor Welfare Act of 1943 guarantees safe and sanitary working conditions and prompt payment of wages.

All this labor legislation, the most complete and progressive in Canada, is rigidly enforced by regular government inspection of industry and working conditions in every part of the province.

These are incontrovertible facts which Alberta voters will consider carefully when they go to the polls on August 8.

Industrial Research

The federal department of agriculture, it is announced, has established a wool research laboratory at Lethbridge. It will be a field laboratory for the study of the evaluation of fibres in the fleeces as a basis for breeding work.

This sort of thing is essentially valuable to the people of Canada. The wool industry is an important one and every step taken to perfect its operations with the assistance of science adds materially to the national income.

But while this principle of research is being applied to wool and many other native industries, is it being applied in a sufficiently broad manner to prospective new industries which might be imported from Europe after the war?

It is expected that the post-war years will bring to Canada a considerable rush of immigration from European countries. Included among these immigrants will doubtless be large numbers of individuals possessing special skills in manufacture. There will be experienced workers in pottery, in chinaware, in glass and scores of other industrial enterprises which have not yet been introduced into the Canadian economy in a substantial way.

Will this country be able to put these people to work at jobs they know best and which will entail most profit to Canada or will they be permitted to drift into employment for which they have not been trained and which will not utilize their knowledge and experience?

If the latter occurs, it will be a tremendous immigration tragedy.

Canada should be preparing now for an influx of skilled workers from Europe so they can be used in the establishment of new industry and not compete with present workers in established industry.

A nation-wide survey of raw materials and manufacturing conditions should be undertaken as soon as possible.

Education for Veterans

Dr. Sidney E. Smith, newly appointed assistant to the principal of the University of Toronto, says that university courses will have to be "specially adapted" to serve the needs of thousands of men and women returning from active service.

What Dr. Smith says is essentially true in the sense that Canadian universities will have to go back to the original university conception of dealing with the minds of mature adults. At present most Canadian universities, in most of their courses, offer merely continuations of high school training.

This is said, not in criticism of universities, but in recognition of the fact that circumstances have compelled universities to change. The average age of those presenting themselves for university training has steadily declined.

The change, however, has not been for the better. Institutions which were originally conceived as places for the ripening and maturing of adult intellects have had to limit the philosophic dosage to the capacity of younger people.

There is a good chance, then, that as post-war conditions gradually increase the average age of university students, the universities may be able, in a measure, to get back to their original standards and purposes.

There is even a hope that this procedure may result in some kind of a measure, long advocated, to compel the expiration of some sort of a hiatus between high school and university—some gap, filled with physical or military training or state-subsidized travel, so that the young student will not be pitchforked too precipitously into university courses which, if maintained at their proper standards, he does not properly understand, or which, if modified to suit his capacity, result in the degradation of the educational ideal.

Freedom of the Press

United States Senator Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico has fallen upon a pertinent idea when he suggests that the guaranteed freedom of the press, in all countries, should be a positive part of the peace plan.

His notion is that an international agreement should be promulgated whereby all governments should agree not to interfere with the gathering and filing of news.

Some of the more backward nations might argue that such an agreement would be an invasion of their sovereignty, that they should retain the exclusive power to say what should be printed and what should not be printed within their domains.

That argument might apply to news comment. The matter is debatable, but some countries might feel that they would like to retain jurisdiction over the editorial interpretation placed on news. Indeed, some such domestic control might be desirable since, in comment, the news can be distorted for evil purposes just as easily as it is explained for benign purposes.

But surely the time has come to recognize that pure news, the unadulterated record of what actually happens, without any speculative or interpretive embroidery, should be as free and uncontrollable, in normal times, as the air or sunshine.

Every man has a right to know the true story of what is going on in the world about him. Facts should not be rationed.

The Political Consequences of the Russian Advance

Month of August Will Be Decisive Time of the War

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The Soviets know that they will need an immediate administration for the parts of Polish soil liberated by the Red armies.

They positively reject the western example of Allied military governments. They regard Poland as an ally and an independent nation, and have no intention of governing it even temporarily by Soviet military authorities.

Dorothy Thompson

Nor do they intend to wait for the creation of a Polish civil administration until they are in Warsaw. A Polish administration will be created the moment Russian troops enter either Lublin, in southern Poland, or Lomzha in the north. It is still hoped that these administrations will be created by a reorganized Polish government-in-exile, but if the deadlock continues the Russians will still not recognize the Union of Polish Patriots, organized in Moscow as the new provisional government, for they will still want to keep the way open for unity—they do not want to create an irreparable breach, and intend to avoid even the symbols of a puppet government.

When Professor Lange was in Moscow a mission of underground leaders arrived from Poland. They were men who had fought for four and a half years under German occupation and their mission represented a liberal cross-section of Polish politics. Professor Lange compares it with the Benes coalition in Czechoslovakia.

The plan is, that failing an agreement with the London government, this underground will be empowered to form a Polish National government, with full sovereignty in the liberated areas.

The first concrete expressions of that sovereignty will be the formation, on Polish soil, of a new and large Polish army. The Soviets are prepared to equip one million Poles with the most modern weapons Russia can deliver.

They will march under their own generals, under their own standards, and—most sensational of all—the Russians intend that they shall be the first troops to enter Berlin in a defeated Germany. Even preceding the Russians: the first to be attacked shall be the first to be victorious, driving home to the Germans what it means to attack Poland!

But will not this new Polish army be a "Red" and "Communist army"?

Stalin's answer to this question is positively no.

The proof, satisfactory to Professor Lange, is that the Polish army already fighting with the Russian divisions on the German front is not Communist, nor propagandized by the Russians to become so.

The leader of that army, General Berling, is not Communist. And within the military necessities of the Red Army the Polish forces are considered as independent. There are no political commissars; there is free discussion of political affairs with all the normal contradictions that arise under such circumstances; there is by no means unanimity on every point with the Russians—except on the point that the new Poland must be independent and sovereign. The Russians have proved to be tolerant of other deviations.

And what does the Soviet government conceive her future relations with an independent Poland to be?

Does the Soviet government demand a permanent political and military alliance with Poland?

The answer is again no. The Soviets would welcome it, but they do not demand it.

They offer, in any case, and without any formal alliance, a permanent guarantee of Poland's frontiers, both east and west. The Soviets regard the integrity of Poland's western boundaries, once they are set, as a prerequisite for Soviet security against any renewed aggression from the west. It will be certain that any army violating Polish territory in the future will immediately encounter the Russians as well as the Poles.

Now, I have a strong impression, and not without supporting evidence, that the Polish prime minister, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, would like to make this agreement. He could undoubtedly get concessions for the government-in-exile on some points, even territorial, for the Soviets are prepared to recognize the Polish claim to Lwow. The Soviets regard the surrounding country as Ukrainian but deny neither the etnographical nor historical Polishness of the town itself.

Premier Mikolajczyk, however, may have played all the cards he can.

I believe that President Roosevelt, when Mikolajczyk was here, discouraged any hopes that the Anglo-Americans would interfere with the Soviet Union except to offer their services as honest brokers to effect minor concessions and compromises.

But in addition to the anti-Russian views of a few members of Mikolajczyk's cabinet, there are legal and constitutional questions involved.

The polish constitution does not establish a cabinet system like the British. Not the prime minister but the president holds the authority when parliament cannot sit. And the Polish president is far more intransigent than is the prime minister toward Russia. The prime minister cannot oust the president but the president can oust the prime minister. Should Mikolajczyk try to form a new government to meet the necessities of the emergency which increases with every hour, the probability is that President Raczkiewicz would appoint another government—and of governments and potential governments Poland certainly has a plethora already.

As things look now, the Soviet alternative plan is going to be put into operation, faute de mieux. But some sort of coalition may nevertheless arise through the individual actions of members of the present government-in-exile. For it seems certain that any of them who should choose to leave the London government and return to the liberated territories would have his way facilitated, or certainly not impeded, by the Soviet government.

The month of August will be the decisive month for the whole of eastern Europe and for the entire European war. The advance of the Red armies will force a decision in fact, if it has not previously been reached by agreement.

This is the military fact and these the political alternatives that confront the Polish government in London. It can accept the situation, retain the leadership, and expand its authority, or, in a matter of weeks, not months, it will be really "in exile," while a new Poland with a new army rises out of the ashes of her 1939 defeat.

Farley Out Against Fourth Term

Animosity to Roosevelt Grounded in Thwarted Ambitions

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—When James A. Farley moves into his suite at the Blackstone hotel in Chicago, he will open what to all intents and purposes will be formal headquarters of the Democratic anti-fourth term movement.

A shrewd politician, big Jim knows he can't prevent the renomination of Roosevelt. But he can and will do everything in his power to keep F.D.R. from being re-elected.

There are many reasons for Farley's animosity. He believes that Roosevelt deceived him four years ago, first telling him he would not be a candidate and then later telling him he intended to run for a third term. In the interval, Jim's own hopes had soared. Bitten with the presidential bug, he has never entirely recovered.

One curious phase of Farley's hatred of the Roosevelt administration has never been disclosed. It has to do with the war of the Colas which went on behind the scenes shortly after sugar rationing was started. Because it throws such a curious light on the relationship between business and politics, it is worth telling here.

Shortly after Farley left the Roosevelt cabinet and ended his duties as national chairman of the Democratic party, he became chairman of the board of the Coca Cola Export Co. Coca Cola's chief rival is the Pepsi-Cola Company, of which Walter S. Mack, Jr. is president.

Sugar is an essential ingredient of both drinks and, with sugar rationing, the competitive position of the two companies would have been frozen for the duration. But Mack, who is an active Republican in New York state, argued that that would be a gross injustice to his company.

Moreover, he had an ingenious plan for getting around the sugar freeze. He succeeded in persuading the war production board to allow him to buy machinery in this country which he shipped to Monterrey, Mexico, where he established a plant for converting sugar into simple syrup.

Previously he had succeeded in buying up—at prices well above the ceiling established in this country by OPA—a considerable portion of Mexico's sugar supply. Converting it into syrup, Mack got nearly 50,000 tons across the border although the importation of sugar by manufacturers was forbidden.

Coca Cola was greatly disturbed. They found it strange that their man, Farley, who had had such close connections in Washington, could do nothing about the situation. Loud complaint was made to OPA, but OPA said power to stop the traffic in syrup lay with the war production board and later with the war food administration.

Farley did all he could in Washington, but to no avail. He and other Coca Cola officials argued that either the importation of sugar syrup should be officially sanctioned or it should be stopped. At one point, big Jim flew to Peru and bought up nearly 90,000 tons of Peruvian sugar. From this source, even though it was more remote, Coca Cola prepared to counter Pepsi-Cola's move.

Not until Chester Bowles became head of OPA was the importation of syrup from Mexico stopped by official order. Deeply resentful, Farley felt a special favor had been granted his competitor. While he will not discuss it, he hints darkly of the forces that opposed him.

An accidental effect of the purchase of Mexican sugar was to throw Mexico's economy further out of kilter. It aggravated acute shortages existing there in the face of a surplus of purchasing power. Ironically, the Mexican government a little later came to Washington asking to buy sugar here at ceiling prices.

All reports to the state department indicate Farley is enjoying remarkable success as a salesman of Coca Cola in Latin America. He is actually beginning to change the drinking habits of our Latin neighbors. Today he is a business man rather than a politician and, like so many other business men, his principal desire in life is to get "that man" out of the White House.

Racial Discrimination Not New

Wartime Elections Act of 1917 Also Contained a Bias

By GRANT DEXTER

In principle, although not in degree, there is no difference between section 5 of the amendments to the Dominion Election Act now before Parliament and the Wartime Elections Act of 1917.

As introduced in the House of Commons by Hon. Norman McLarty, secretary of state, on June 8, the amendments (section 5) contemplate the disfranchisement of persons because they are of enemy blood. All that is necessary to disfranchise these persons in a Dominion election is that one province should disfranchise them provincially. In the Senate, the discrimination has been restricted to a single racial group—the Japanese. The principle, however, is unchanged.

The Wartime Elections Act of 1917, among other but no more flagrant injustices, disfranchised persons of enemy birth, or of alien enemy mother tongue, who had been naturalized since 1902. As a means of illustrating the seriousness of this feature of the legislation now before Parliament, it is worth while recalling the 1917 legislation.

The Borden government brought down the Wartime Elections Act, in September, 1917, and it was immediately and vigorously attacked by the Liberal party and by Liberals generally. Liberal members, like W. A. Buchanan of Alberta, who had broken with Laurier on conscription, refused to support the bill. The government, under cross fire, did its best to defend it on the ground, as stated by Mr. Meighen, that "our only motive is to safeguard the franchise of this country in a perilous crisis, in the interest of the Canadian people and for no party advantage at all."

Sir Wilfrid spoke on Sept. 10 and moved an amendement which fits precisely the 1944 situation. His motion, with equal force could be moved against the bill under debate at Ottawa. The amendment read:

"That this bill be not now read a second time but that it be resolved that the abridgment by this Parliament of the electoral franchise now enjoyed in any province of the Dominion by any class of His Majesty's subjects would be contrary to the peace, order and good government of Canada."

The bill was carried in 1917 but by a narrow majority.

The Liberal party of that day, however, took up the challenge and never rested until the law was replaced and the rights of those disfranchised by it restored. The Liberal Monthly of October, 1917, and later months, reflects the attitude of the party. It was recalled that the South African war was caused by precisely this kind of an act on the part of President Kruger. The Borden government, said the Liberals, had adopted Oom Paul's methods.

"There is an attempt," said the Liberal Monthly, "to becloud the vision of the people by cowardly and unjustifiable accusations and insinuations of latent disloyalty or worse against the disfranchised citizens of the Dominion and against the Liberal party, which has unmasked this political camouflage, and has undertaken to defend British principles. . . . The fundamental principle of British law and of the British constitution as handed down to us for centuries, and only won after an arduous struggle against the barons since the time of King John, is that the people shall govern. . . . The trail of Prussianism is over the attitude and acts of the Borden government and in no place are the evidences of autocracy so clear as in the framing and enacting of the notorious . . . Franchise Act which has been foisted upon the people of Canada by the Junkers under the direction of the tariff and money barons of the Dominion. But not satisfied with depriving thousands of loyal citizens of their legitimate rights, not satisfied with treating the solemn promises of the nation to these citizens as scraps of paper, not satisfied with out-Krugering Kruger, etc., etc., etc."

On Nov. 5, 1917, Sir Wilfrid issued his election manifesto. It contained a long paragraph on the Election Act which reads in part as follows:

"The government have discarded that fundamental principle of the constitution of a free people. They have designedly altered the sanctity of the franchise . . . they have deliberately manufactured a franchise with which they hope to win a victory at the polls—a passing victory for themselves, a permanent injury to the country. This act known as the Wartime Elections Act, is a blot upon every instinct of justice and honesty and fair play."

Enough has been quoted to indicate the temper of the Liberal attack on the 1917 bill.

Nor did the Liberals give up the fight with the 1917 election. Mr. King, on assuming the leadership, carried it on. When amendments to the Election Act came before the Commons in 1920, he went back over the ground. He called the legislation of 1917, "one of the most infernal pieces of legislation that have ever been enacted in this country."

"Is it any wonder, sir," said Mr. King, "that the people of Canada have lost confidence in this administration? They never had any confidence. How could they, when the administration was returned to power through such a violation of the most sacred right which belongs to a free people—the right to a just and honest franchise?" He called the 1917 law a "blot upon our country."

He said that the House had lost its representatie character. That the people had ceased to have faith in the whole system of parliamentary government. The franchise, he said, was fundamental and sacred as respects the rights of citizenship and lies at the ery foundations of self government.

Mr. King (Hansard, page 726, 1920) drew a clear line with respect to provincial franchise laws where considerations of race might create a problem of which a province would have to take account. In such cases, however, the problem should remain a provincial one. There was no need to make it a national problem.

The long-range effect of this acute controversy in the last war on the Liberal party may be observed in the bound volume of Liberal pamphlets, 1917-1939.

The question is dealt with in a very detailed way in the pamphlet on "The Franchise and Citizenship."

Echoes of the great fight against racial discrimination in the last war are audible in speeches of Mr. King in Parliament in the present war. This is particularly true of his speech in the special war session of September, 1939, when he said (Hansard, page 19):

"I hope that throughout this country our citizens will be as tolerant as they can of differences of view and belief that are honestly held. . . . I ask above all, for a broad toleration. I was glad to hear my hon. friend (Mr. Manion) make that plea, not only on behalf of citizens here in our own country who belong to the two great races but as well on behalf of those of German descent who also are citizens of our country."

At that time Germany was our only enemy. Mr. King went on to speak of the German-Canadians in the highest terms—he being, himself, a native of Berlin, Ontario, and knowing them well. The context makes it clear that Mr. King would have made the same plea for Canadian citizens who derive from other countries which subsequently entered the war against us.

Until the amenments to the Elections Act were introduced on June 8 last, the Liberal record in this respect was without blemish.

New Head of the CBC

Howard B. Chase, newly appointed chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's board of governors, is still the former railway engineer whose heart rides the locomotives, despite his long years as a labor executive.

Coatless and jabbing the air with his pipe, he answered a Montreal interviewer's questions reluctantly. Though his position will attract the critical eye and ear of millions of Canadian radio listeners, it was evident that he doesn't like publicity. Apparently he would have been happier if he could have taken over without his name appearing in the press, as was the case in 1939 when he was appointed to the defence purchasing board.

He did tell, though, of starting with the Northern Pacific Railway in North Dakota at the age of 18 as a wiper and working up to fireman, then engineer. He admitted with a quiet smile that an engineer's life still looked good to him, "maybe running out of Vancouver, which is a mighty nice place to live". He still holds his seniority as a Canadian National engineer, and one jab of the pipe indicated a list on which his name appeared in 19th place.

He spoke of labor executive work as "something you get into and can't get out of. You're elected, your mates have confidence in you, so what can you do?"

He told, too, of coming to Canada in 1907 as engineer with the Canadian Northern Railway, running first out of Port Arthur, Ont., and later from Edmonton. Three years later he was first elected to represent the engineers as local chairman and from then on moved up from one position to another to his present one of president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, with headquarters in Montreal.

In 1938 Mr. Chase attended the international labor organization conference in Geneva as technical adviser to the Government representative. He was a director in the Department of Munitions and Supply until September, 1941, and for a year acted as Government controller of the National Steel Car Corporation at Hamilton, Ont., during which he was on leave of absence from his regular job.

FIELD MARSHAL GORT

Lord Gort Made Palestine Chief

LONDON, July 20—(CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Gort, who was commander of the British field forces during the early months of the war has been appointed high commissioner and commander in chief of Palestine, it was officially announced last night.

Lord Gort, 58, who now is governor and commander-in-chief of Malta, also will become high commissioner for Trans-Jordan.

He will take up his new post Sept. 9, succeeding Sir Harold MacMichael who has been high commissioner in Palestine since 1938.

Lord Gort then will relinquish the Malta post, to which he was appointed in 1942. Prior to that he was governor and commander-in-chief of Gibraltar.

Declares Socialism Would Mean End Of Private Industry

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—Hon. R. B. Hanson, Progressive Conservative member for York-Sunbury constituency in New Brunswick, said yesterday in the Commons that if Socialism should ever dominate the economic life of Canada the country would not have any private industry.

Speaking during resumed examination of budget resolutions he indicated his party favored triple taxation of companies.

"Let us expose this hollow sham once and for all," said Mr. Hanson during examination of a resolution which would provide that dividends paid by a wholly-owned subsidiary non-resident company to a Canadian parent company be exempt from taxes when received by such parent company. This would apply in cases where the taxes paid by the subsidiary in the foreign country were equal to Canadian taxation rates.

Hanson Urges Tax Reforms For Industry

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—Hon. R. B. Hanson, Progressive Conservative member for York-Sunbury constituency in New Brunswick, said yesterday in the Commons he believed taxes should be reduced now so industry would be in a position to meet post-war problems.

Mr. Hanson, speaking during continued examination of budget resolutions, said Finance Minister Ilsley had admitted in his budget speech that the government had taxed industry beyond "true income." A reform in the taxation system was long overdue.

"We are suggesting reductions in taxation in order to meet the situation that will arise in the post-war period," Mr. Hanson said. "The reductions in taxation which the opposition amendment (to the budget resolution) advocated this year will not begin to equal the amount which the department of national defence is wasting in the army in Canada."

POLICY INDICATED

Mr. Hanson said that the Winnipeg Free Press, which he termed the government's "greatest supporter," had indicted the government's taxation policy in a series of articles last March. He quoted frequently from the articles and then said the government should indicate what the post-war taxation policy likely would be.

Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to the finance minister, said many suggestions had been received from industries which wanted to be allowed to set up a tax-free reserve to take care of maintenance and repairs they were unable to carry out now because of a shortage of materials and manpower.

"This was carefully considered," he said. "The feasibility of being able to allow such a tax-free reserve was considered and it was felt that the difficulties in the way of allowing it were almost insuperable."

STUDY PROPOSAL

The proposal in the resolution under study was that after a period determined by the governor-in-council repairs and maintenance might be charged half back in a previous year.

"In other words the income tax return for that year may be re-opened," he said. "One half of the repairs in a given period may be charged back to that year and, in effect, the taxpayer is receiving a refund on taxes.

"The money must e all spent, and the taxpayer may then charge half of it as current, and take half of it and put it back in a previous period."

Examinations of the resolutions continued at the evening sitting, with the income tax and excess profits tax resolutions passing amid quiet debate.

Nazis Intensify Robot Attacks

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British-United Press

LONDON, July 20—The Germans continued their robot attacks on London and southern counties during the night and into daylight today, with one of the weapons reportedly flying due west from the direction of the Netherlands.

While the attacks were on the biggest scale yet early last evening, the tempo tapered off during the night.

A number of flying bombs was shot down over the channel last night by R.A.F. fighters and anti-aircraft guns, although some landed in the target areas, causing damage and casualties.

It was believed the Germans were using new inland bases for launching the bombs, although the sites apparently were within a 150-mile radius from London.

The Germans also were reported using pre-fabricated bases, which are installed overnight by special crews at varying positions apparently in an effort to extend Britain's ack-ack and balloon defences as much as possible.

THIS "SOLID" EARTH

We speak of "solid" earth, and yet the earth spins on its axis, dashes around the sun, wobbling like a top as it goes; its core is liquid, its surface is three-fourths water, and even the ground is so elastic that it gives with the tides.

Local Club Slams Out 13 Hits in Winning Baseball Exhibition

Yanks Turn Back Anchorage Nine 4-2

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW

By Jack DeLong

THAT was an interesting game of baseball at Renfrew Park last evening when the Edmonton Army Yanks won a 4-2 decision from a smart, hustling group of baseballers from faraway Anchorage, Alaska.

Despite the fact they outhit their visitors from the far northwest by 13 to 3 the local airmen were in trouble two or three times and in a pulsating ninth inning looked like a pretty lucky collection of athletes to walk off with the verdict.

With tighter pitching the Richardson Field aggregation should be a pretty hard outfit to stop. Ballak, who did the pitching for the visitors Wednesday worked out of several dangerous situations with a minimum of damage, but was never any real mystery to Edmonton's Yanks.

The visiting fielders seemed to be bothered a bit by the strange park, their outfielders in particular, not seeming to take station to the best advantage, which resulted in bad misjudgments on two occasions. The northern diamond invaders should do quite a bit better tonight and the contest should be well worth looking in on.

That the boys from Anchorage felt a trifle strange is not surprising. Manager Lt. Stanley Robertson, a chap with a smile as wide and friendly as the great spaces of Alaska, told us a few interesting things about his team.

"Several of the boys haven't been out of the north for nearly three years and believe me they're enjoying this trip to Edmonton," he said, adding that the highlights of the visit to some of the lads were their first dates in nearly three years.

Some of the team have been stationed in the bleak Aleutians and have seen action at Attu and Kiska. Lt. Robertson was himself stationed on Adak Island in the Aleutian chain for a long time. He has been 23 months in the Northwest.

REAL BASEBALL BOOM

BUT, despite the war, baseball has flourished in an amazing way in the Alaskan area.

In Anchorage there are 13 teams in the senior league. They are all service clubs and two ball parks are kept teeming with activity during the summer months. There is a park at Richardson Field and another in the town of Anchorage.

Games are well attended, there being an average attendance of about 1,000 per game. A huge service fastball tournament is now in progress at Anchorage, with teams from Attu, Kiska and other spots in the war zone, competing.

The visit of the Anchorage team marks the first occasion in the history of Edmonton when a squad of diamond artists have journeyed so far to keep a two-day engagement here. The team travels by army plane, and is housed in barracks while here, so there's really no monetary outlay to speak of commensurate with the magnitude of the journey.

At current commercial air rates the trip of the Anchorage G.I.'s would cost a small fortune.

Toronto Entrants Favor Well At Canadian Swim Event

VANCOUVER, July 20.—(CP)—Doris Geldard and Jean Dean, both of Toronto, topped their respective classes at the Canadian championship swimming meet held here Wednesday night in connection with a service (Kinsmen) club aquatic carnival.

Crowning of Aquatic Queen Eula Walker of Vancouver, who entered the pool in a flower-decked amphibious jeep, vied with the exciting events of the swimming meet for the applause of approximately 4,000 spectators. The floating jeep remained in the pool for most of the evening, almost stealing the show from the swimming champs.

Joan Mingie of Montreal was another of the stars of the show. Most of the entrants in the meet were girls. John Smythe of Victoria was one of the prominent male swimmers.

100 yards back stroke senior men: Heat 1—John Dean, Toronto; Ed Cline, Vancouver; Roddy Andrews, San Francisco, Calif. Time 1:08. Heat 2—Maurice Bricault, Montreal; Teddy Wilson, Vancouver; Bernard McHale, Vancouver. Time 1:13.

Anchorage, Yanks Battle Tonight

Beaten by a two-run margin in their first appearance in action against the Edmonton Army Yanks on Wednesday, Richardson Field Depoteers from Anchorage are out to even the count when they meet the Yanks again at Renfrew Park this evening.

The Alaskan aggregation proved to be a smart ball team and now they are accustomed to the surroundings should make it even more interesting for the Yanks in this evening's contest that starts at 7 p.m. sharp.

A City Senior League fixture between the U.S. Signals and Arrows, scheduled for this evening, will be played Friday starting at 7 p.m.

Tam O'Shanter Expected To Be Test of Nerves

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—Geo. May Wednesday turned the pressure on the pros competing in his Tam O'Shanter golf stampede Aug. 24-27, by announcing that the winner will be paid off at the rate of about $47.57 per stroke, side bets not counting.

Now this is enough moola to draw even Jug McSpaden, defending champion and leading war bond earner of the season.

By reducing the first prize award to such minute terms as so much per stroke, Mr. May is guilty of making his tournament the greatest test of nerves in golf, as well as the richest. A total of $42,500 in bonds will be passed out as prize money.

Mr. May, who will charge spectators 83 cents (plus 17 cents tax) to watch golf's gold rush, will bestow upon the winner the title of "World Champion Golfer of 1944." But more important, he will give the guy $13,462.50 in war bonds. This is equivalent to $47.57 per shot, assuming the 72-hole score is 283, five under par—which Mr. May gladly assumes.

Since the Tam course was lengthened and tightened up, the best aggregates have been 280 by Clay Heafner and Byron Nelson in 1942, and 282 by McSpaden and Buck White in 1943. Mr. May, who had a crew of workmen equipped with pneumatic drills punch holes in the frozen sod this winter to plant a couple of thousand matured trees on the links, figures 283 will be the winning tally this time.

Last Year's Winners Lose In Hunt for Net Honors

WINNERS of the men's doubles title in last year's Civil Service Tennis Club tournament bowed out of the renewed fight to retain their honors Wednesday when Alf Blyth and George Docherty, former titleholders, lost to Bill Logan and Mort Watts 6-3, 6-4.

The triumph not only eliminated the last year winners but advanced Logan and Watts to the semi-finals of the men's doubles event. If the weatherman keeps in an appropriate mood it is expected that some of the finals will be played over the week-end.

Logan played a particularly effective game Wednesday and the losers were never able to get really organized.

LADIES' COMPETITIONS

In the ladies' singles semi-finalists were declared when Betty Hume defeated Mrs. Poohkay 6-2, 6-1; Helen Wolfe beat Pearl Warren 6-2, 6-2; Pat Hawkes defeated Hazel Coe 7-5, 6-4, and Sophie Mighall defeated Yvette Le Bel 6-3, 4-6, 6-0. Of these four, Pat Hawkes had the toughest game before finally subdued Hazel Coe. Sophie Mighal also ran into difficulty for a while, but got going again the final set. In the men's singles, Bill Ralph and Mort Watts finally quit after winning one set each and will finish on Thursday night.

In the ladies' doubles, Pat Hawkes and Hazel Coe also entered the semi-finals when they took the measure of Pearl Warren and Ann Brodie by scores of 6-0, 6-4.

Mr. and Mrs. Poohkay advanced in the mixed doubles by a 6-1, 6-0 win over Gladys Docherty and George Pritchard.

Two semi-final matches in the ladies' singles are sceduled for Thursday evening. At 6:00 Sophie Mighall takes on Betty Hume and at 7:00 Helen Wolfe tangles with Pat Hawkes. Both these matches should be worth watching.

Soem good tennis should also be seen when Bob Hall and George Schmid clash in the men's singles, and also the match between Hoiles and Stu Harris. These games are called for 6 o'clock.

Two good mixed doubles matches are also scheduled. Betty Hume and Bob Hall meet Mr. and Mrs. Poohkay, and Pat Hawkes and Bill Logan meet Frances Gordon and S. Harris.

The following are the draws for Thursday:

6:00 p.m.—M.O.S., Hall vs. Schmid; M.O.S., Hoiles vs. Harris; L.O.S., semi-final, Mighall vs. Hume; M.O.S., Watts vs. Ralph (finish).

7:00 p.m.—L.O.S., semi-final, Wolfe vs. Hawkes; M.O.D., GosmanyWebb vs. Ralph-Farvolden.

8:00 p.m.—MxD., Hume - Hall vs. Poohkay-Poohkay; Hawkes-Logan vs. Gordon-Harris; M.S.S., McFarlane vs. Potter; M.S.S., Bruce vs. Harvie.

Wednesday's Results

L.O.S.—Hume def. Poohkay 6-2, 6-1; Hawkes def. Coe 7-5, 6-4; Wolfe def. Warren 6-2, 6-2; Mighall def. La Bell 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

M.O.D.—Watts-Logan def. Blythe-Docherty 6-3, 6-4.

L.O.D.—Hawkes-Coe def. Warren-Brodie 6-0, 6-4.

MxD.—Poohkay-Poohkay def. Docherty-Pritchard 6-1, 610.

M.S.S.—Webb def. Stephen 7-5, 6-0; Logan def. Lewis 6-0, 6-1.

Nonsuch Captures First in Service Fastball Finals

Seafaring balltossers from H.M.C.S. Nonsuch won the first of a best of three series for the Interservice Fastball League championship Wednesday by defeating the squad from No. 4 I.T.S. by a 4-2 count.

The game was hotly contested throughout at the navy diamond and the issue was in doubt right up until the last out.

Second game in the series will be played at No. 4 I.T.S. grounds Friday starting at 7 o'clock.

No. 4 I.T.S. battery was Steele and Lush while Gordon and Ingram teamed up for the winners.

Ordinary Seaman Foss, first sacker for the bluejackets, hit a two-bagger that brought in a run, while Sgt. Lush, backstop for the airmen, belted out a triple.

Flt. Lt. Mooney of No. 3 "M" depot umpired the contest.

The Nonsuch squad had previously eliminated the "M" depot before clashing with No. 4 I.T.S.

Second Largest Racing Day in Regina History

By LOU DAVIES

REGINA, July 20.—The Wednesday half holiday proved to be the second largest racing day in the history of the Regina Exhibition when $71,714 passed through the pari-mutuels. This was against $51,276 on the same day of last year.

Racing Secretary Schilling provided a topnotch card with three races over a distance of ground. The featured handicap proved that Memerist's recent long priced win at Calgary was no fluke as the elderly mare came off the pace to defeat Ebony Moon by a half length. Calla Donna made the pace here but was supplanted by Ebony Moon entering the stretch.

Vesuvius accounted for the mile and one-eighth of the fourth in a stretch drive over the pacemaking Some Do.

Dutch Defender, owned by "Whittier Park Slim" (Ed. Howe) took the opener by six lengths from Pussy Boots. Lorelei D made every post a winning one in the second to complete a Daily Double of $44.10.

Cordinator, recently acquired by Nels Ings, was the driving winner of the seventh over Yeo Marcus. The Quinella paid but $8.85.

Final Reached Midget Fastball

Rossdale and Scona Centre entered the final in the midget section of the city sandlot fastball playoffs Wednesday night when they both won in the semi-finals at Diamond park.

Rossdale shut out the Y Phantoms 9-0 in one game and the Scona club turned back the Maple Leafs 13-5 in the other.

In the juvenile division last night Victoria edged out South Side 4-2 and the Cardinals eliminated Tuxis 13-9. The Cardinals meet Rossdale tonight starting at 7 o'clock in the juvenile semi-final and the winner will take on Victoria for the title. The midget final will also be staged Friday.

Losers Have Bases Filled Last Inning

The U.S. Army Fort Richardson Depoteers from Anchorage, Alaska, displayed their diamond powers at Renfrew Park Wednesday night and were turned back 4-2 by the local Yanks in the opener of a two game series. The two clubs hook up again tonight commencing at 7 o'clock.

The visitors from down north didn't appear as strong as Wayne Adams' club, but gave a good showing, highlighted by a ninth inning when they loaded the sacks with one out.

The Depoteers lacked a good brand of pitching in last night's clash, however and the Yanks blasted out a total of 13 hits off big "Breezy" Ballak who went the distance for Lt. Stan Robertson's squad. Roush and Ivan Crumly, a new addition to the winners' club, did the most damage with the willows. Crumly had a good night with a triple and a single in three official trips to the plate while Roush pounded out three safeties in four times at bat.

Jerry Martel, the Depoteers' first sacker, was one of the most impressive among the visitors for both his work in the infield and at the plate. He turned in a good defensive game in snaggling them from all sides and slammed out a double in four trips. He also accounted for the losers' two runs.

Catcher "Hex" Hexson who formerly played with Memphis, Tenn., in the Southern Association worked well behind the batters and made some nice throws down to second. He also showed that he could do alright with the willow when he sent oue of Nelson's offerings to the right field fence for a triple.

Roush clicked for the Yanks' first run in the initial inning. He singled to centre field and came all the way from first on an error in right field by Mike Sedlak who misjudged Galvin's fly.

Meyers bounced one off the right field fence in the second for a double and was driven in by Crumbly's three bagger to increase the Yanks' margin to 2-0. Birchfield then grounded down to second and Crumly beat the throw to the plate. Birchfield was safe on a fielder's choice, but was thrown out at second on an attempted steal.

In the third inning the Yanks came up with another counter. With one out, Crumly hit a line drive past third to the outfield and advanced to second on a nice bunt down the third base line by Nelson. Birchfield then grounded out, second to first. Martel attempted to throw out Crumly, who was heading for third and make it a double play but his heave was out of Johnny Koza's reach and the runner came in. Nelson moved around to third on the error, but died there when Schumaker went out, short to first.

A walk to Martel and Hanson's triple accounted for the visitors' first run that came in the sixth. Hixson easily made three bases on his blow, but was caught off the sack when the ball was relayed from centre field.

Nelson gave away to pinch-hitter Wayne Adams in the other half of the sixth and Walker went out on the mound for the Yanks to finish the game. Nelson only allowed one run and two hits in the six frames, but was wild and allowed six walks.

Martel's double, a putout at first and a wild pitch allowed him to round the bases for the second time in the eighth to bring the Alaskans within two runs of tying the score.

Walker began to get wild in the last session and walked three consecutive Depoteers to fill the sacks and bring the game to an interesting stage. He bore down on Kosenski, the next batter, however, and whiffed him back to the dugout and then forced Martel to fly out to centre to retire the side. Martel's ball was hard hit, but went right to Valenti.

The Fort Richardson club pulled off a nice double-play in the seventh. Roush hit to left field and then Galvin followed by grounding to third. Koza threw to second to force out Roush and Kosenski relayed to first to beat Galvin.

The visitors have two chuckers, Bill Keith and Johnny Tuccillo, ready to go tonight against the local pace setters. Bill Keith is likely to get the starting role, however.

Pats Triumph 3-2

Walk-Rite "A" Wins 2-0 To Continue Undefeated

WALK-RITE "A" ran their unbeaten string in the City Girls' Fastball League to seven Wednesday night when they shut out Bomberettes 2-0 in the curtain raiser of a doubleheader. Army and Navy Pats edged out Walk-Rite "B" 3-2 in the second game.

A double, an error, an an out at first and a single in the sixth inning of the opener supplied the margin of victory over the Bomberettes.

Mickey McConnell made first on Audrey Wellman's error, moved around to third on Joan Barton's double and scored when Jean Beatty went out, third to first. Beatty advanced to third on the out and then was driven in by Frances Zavitz who singled past third.

Betty Carveth chucked outstanding ball for the Walk-Rites, allowing five hits, but striking out 11 and not issuing a single walk. The Bomberettes also got good pitching from Lois Stoughton who held the league leaders to four safeties.

MARY VERENKA'S RUN DECIDES CLOSE GAME

A run in the eighth inning by Pitcher Mary Verenka gave the Army and Navy Pats their win over Walk-Rite "B" in the second game last night. The winning marker came on a fielder's choice, a wild pitch, an error and a stolen base.

Marie Duncan turned in a one-hitter against the second-place Pats, but errors cost her the game. The first two runs came in on errors.

The Walk-Rite club gained a 2-0 lead in the first half of the sixth. Dot Myers' single to left field went to second on a putout and then scored when Gwen Riddle made two bags on an error by Third-Sacker Jean Hatch. Gwen was driven in by Betty Chapman for the second counter.

The Pats got the two runs back in the other half of the sixth, however. Teddy Howey walked, advanced on Verenka's single to short field, went to third when Jean Stewart was being struck out and then tallied on an error by Bella Riddle. Verenka moved around to third on the error and then scored on a miscue by Dot Myers.

Alberta Seniors Open Golf Meet Here on Friday

With an entry list of 45, representing golfing talent from many sections of the province in addition to the Edmonton clubs, the annual Alberta Seniors golf tournament will be played at Mayfair Golf and Country club on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Hon. J. C. Bowen, lieutenant governor of Alberta, will drive the first ball to officially open the competition at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Calgary will be represented by nine stalwarts, it is definitely known, while Red Deer and Lethbridge will have two golfers carrying the fortunes of each city. Innisfail and Stettler are sending standard bearers.

Mayfair club tops the city clubs with 13 entries. Highlands comes next with 12, Edmonton Golf and Country Club has four with the Municipal in with a lone contestant.

The Seniors title was last won in 1942 by Bert Roberts of Calgary. That was the last year the competition was played.

Winners in previous years included, T. S. Thompson, Hugh Graham and R. G. Thomlinson.

Following is the draw:

1:30—Hon. J. C. Bowen, T. S. Thompson, Hugh Graham, Capt. C. V. Dacre.
1:35—J. Rumbell, E. A. McBain, D. B. Lake.
1:40—Bert Roberts, F. J. Kavanagh, T. Adams.
1:45—Art Lowes, R. G. Thomlinson, J. Walsh.
1:50—Dr. Wagner, J. F. Lymburn, A. C. Dunn.
1:55—E. E. Willis, C. H. Chapman, Wm. Barnhouse.
2:00—H. Milton Martin, W. H. A. Thompson, Neil MacLean.
2:05—Sid Wallis, Dr. F. Owen, John Mather.
2:10—W. C. Fisher, W. Freeman, W. F. Brown.
2:15—F. Motter, P. R. Rose, H. A. Campbell.
2:20—J. R. Jones, E. F. Mann, A. Chard.
2:25—James Mather, H. Hibbs, Lorne Muir.
2:30—J. N. Eagleson, J. Maguire, W. Robertson.
2:35—W. J. Wilde, J. K. Lowry, W. Mackie.
2:40—J. H. Morrison, F. H. Benson, A. N. Other.

The Saturday morning round will commence at 9 o'clock in the same order as above.

Hedley Woodhouse Has Close Escape

NEW YORK, July 20.—(CP)—Jockey Hedley Woodhouse, well known on western Canada tracks, had a narrow escape from injury at Jamaica track Wednesday when his mount in the featured Eastview Stakes, A. A. Baroni's Top General, suddenly broke down in the stretch run, throwing the jockey.

In the same race C. V. Whitney's Hindu Kush injured a leg acting up at the stall gate and was withdrawn. War Jeep won the event, paying $14.80 for $2.

BOSTON, July 20. — Boston is still trying to figure out if Monday night's outdoor bout between champions Willie Pep and Manuel Ortiz was completely on the level.

Pep of Hartford, Conn., the featherweight champion, won the unanimous 10-round decision in that contest over Ortiz of El Centro, Calif., world's undispited bantamweight king. More than 10,000 fans witnessed the encounter.

As the principals groomed for this bout, suspicions fountained throughout the Hub City. There was the report that Ortiz had the fight in the bag, because his manager, Tommy Farmer, was a close friend of one of the Boston promoters. And there was the report that Pep had the fight in the bag because of his alleged connections with a deadly New York trigger man.

REPORTS PERSISTENT

THESE reports were so persistent that the managers of both fighters sent them into the ring at Braves' Field Monday night with the instructions:

"You'll have to beat his brains out to win."

Promoters Eddie Mack and Jack O'Brien explained that they didn't care who won, just so that the customers got a run for their money, which happened to total $33,450. Perhaps the promoters were hoping that Ortiz would lick Pep, and thereby win a title shot at Pep's 126-pound crown. One Boston writer, in his advance story, suggested that the promoters had arranged for an Ortiz victory, or, at least a great showing by Ortiz, so that a big-money return bout could be staged in Boston.

Unfortunately these wizards of odds failed to appreciate the brand of men who were being thrown into the ring when Pep and Ortiz met. Ortiz—swarthy, black-haired and dead-panned—was out for a knockout— or at least a decision after he had slowed up Pep with stunning blows.

PEP OUT TO WIN

PEP was out to win by means of smart defensive tactics that included off-to-Buffalo footwork, "painting" left jabs and tying-up manoeuvres. He was out to win by any means possible—without endangering himself. Trainer Bill Gore told him to get out there and win—regardless of the reaction from Ortiz or the fans. And that's exactly what Pep did. Meanwhile Ortiz's pilot, Tommy Farmer, had groomed him for victory—along the same lines in which Manuel had registered 28 straight wins without being beaten in nearly three years.

Ortiz unfortunately fought along the same line that had governed previous victories—stalking his man, and waiting for his man to lead, before delivering a stunning counter-punch. Pep declined to lead when Ortiz was trying to force him into a fatal movement. Hence, their combined reluctance caused a dull bout.

It seems to us that Ortiz' handlers should have sensed the trend of the battle after the third round—should have sent the bantam king out with orders to start belting from all directions. Ortiz has the speed and terrific punch to wage a slam-bang attack.

If the dead panned Mexican resorts to these tactics the next time the meet, the result may be different.

Red Deer Army Shades Penhold Soccer Match

RED DEER, July 20—The Red Deer Army soccer club added another win to its unbroken record of victories in the Service Soccer League last night when A-20 defeated Penhold Tigers 2-1 in a combined league fixture and cup tie. A blazing sun made the going hard, but both teams maintained a brisk clip till the final whistle.

Both goal tenders did some stellar stopping. Manning making two seemingly impossible saves in the airmen's net, while Bickerton, between the sticks for A-20 proved an almost impenetrable barrier to the hard fighting Penhold attackers.

Red Deer scored the first counter when Nisbet, the soldiers centre forward, beat Manning with a neat shot from a well placed pass by Jack Forsey, A-20 inside right. A flawless solo effort by Corporal Hobby, leading the attack for the airmen, tide up the score seconds before the half time whistle.

In the second half Forsey again featured in the scoring by putting the soldiers ahead on a goal from a free kick by Ledger, A-20 left half, who placed the ball for the hockey star with uncanny accuracy.

Lineups:

Penhold — Manning; Hampson, Fudge; Strickland, Shuttleworth, England; Hayward, Vale, Hobby, Southby, Thomas.

Red Deer — Bickerton; Karch, Jack; Lomas, Muir, Ledger; Vogt, Forsey, Nisbet, Foy, Jack.

Referee—Flt.-Sgt. Walls.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, July 20. — (CP) — When Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced they would sponsor a high school football team to prepare the boys for the big time, there was considerable viewing with alarm in some quarters, and the cry of "professionalism" wavered on the breeze.

Some observers thought this would undermine the pillars of amateur sportdom in the high school world, by tieing the boys down to the sponsoring club and making them more or less chattels of the vested sports interests, as it were.

Granted the youngsters probably would feel obliged to play with the team that gave them their sport education, still it's a fact they wouldn't get the chance to become such good players otherwise, so it's 50-50.

And, as Al (Brantford Expositor) Rose points out, schools are intended to educate you, and what better education can a boy get than a good grooming in athletics and games? Besides the physical benefit obtained, ability at football, hockey or some other sport always is just about as good as a diploma in helping corral a job.

Apparently the girls around Montreal are anxious to see an Eastern Canada women's track and field championship meet staged, but there doesn't seem to be too much interest elsewhere. Myrt Cook of the Montreal Star wants some Ontario club to stage the meet, promising full support from Montreal civilian clubs, with the R.C.A.F., Women's Division and C.W.A.C. taking part. But apparently there is only one active club in Ontario, Laurel Ladies, and they are shy because they attempted a similar meet two years ago and only two clubs entered.

INCIDENTALLY:

Les Lear, captain of last season's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has signed a professional football contract with Cleveland Rams in the National Football League. Lear made the all-Canadian team the last three years, despite a leg injury that caused his rejection by all three armed services.

Brandon Golfer Has Medal Score

WINNIPEG, July 20—(CP)—Bill Thompson of Brandon registered the greatest upset of the day when he toured the St. Charles Country Club course here with a three-under par 70 to capture medal round honors in the Manitoba amateur golf championship for the Free Press trophy Wednesday.

Thompson, rated a dark horse entry, wound up the tough 18 holes three strokes ahead of his nearest opponents, Ray Reaney and George Cotton, both of Winnipeg, who completed the course in 73.

Power Drive in Sixth Frame Gives N.Y. Yanks 6-5 Victory

ST. LOUIS, July 20. — (AP) — Exploding in the sixth inning with their old-time power, New York Yankees defeated St. Louis Browns 6-5 last night to close the gap on the American League-leaders to two full games.

The Yanks pushed home four runs in their big inning, three of them on Johnny Lindell's seventh homer of the season, to overcome a three-run deficit.

Tiny Bonham was nicked for 12 hits but won his sixth game. Sig Jakucki held the world champions hitless until the third when they scored twice to gain an early tie. The Browns again took the lead only to lose it during the Yanks' big sixth.

ERRORS AID DETROIT

DETROIT, July 20.—(AP)—Successive errors in the 10th inning by Joe Kuhel, George Myatt and Rick Ferrell gave Detroit Tigers a 2-1 American League victory Wednesday over Washington Senators. It was Detroit's second straight triumph in the series and ninth in 12 games with Washington this season.

BEAUTIFUL PLAYGROUND HAS MULTIPLE ATTRACTIONS FOR VACATIONIST

Sports, Social Activities, Tourists, Make Jasper Gay

Crowds Gather for Dances, Trail Riding, Hikes, Tennis and Swimming

Jasper provides ideal vacations for over-worked Canadians . . . who, from the moment rugged mountain peaks are glimpsed, discover new energy and freedom from care. Clear, rarefied air—complete peacefulness— sound sleep—delicious, nourishing meals—and new vigor is apparent in visitors. Then . . . it's time to expore the marked trails for hiking—the paths for trail riding on trained ponies—bicycle trips—swimming in crystal clear lakes—dances in the town of Jasper and at Pyramid Lake—new friends; so easy to make because Jasper is informal. Jasper offers the holiday that's tops!

What to do in Jasper is not the problem . . . it's how to do it all in the time allowed. Boating on the beautiful lakes is a grand pastime . . . canoeing if the visitor is handy with a paddle . . . sightseeing . . . tennis, at the Jasper Club . . . dancing . . . motion pictures every night . . . trail-riding, with easy trips for newcomers . . . bicycling to beauty spots within ten miles of town . . . hiking . . . dinner dates in the attractive restaurants and coffee shops . . . long days of sunshine, with daylight until eleven . . . finally a comfortable room and bath at a hotel, or a private chalet at one of the camps. Meals become a pastime, too, for that mountain air creates an appetite that it's sheer pleasure to satisfy.

Accommodation Available for Holiday-ers

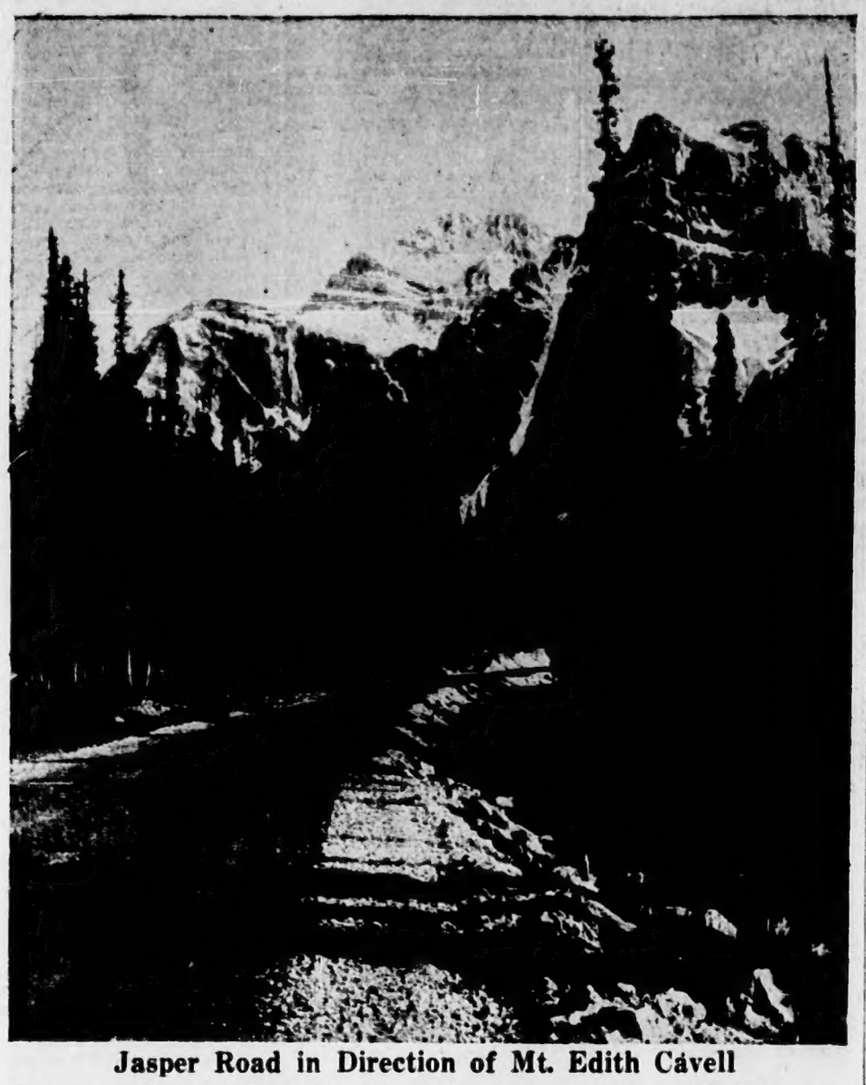

Jasper is ready for visitors . . . with three attractive hotels—more like large clubs, because of a friendly, informal atmosphere . . . with four bungalow camps open and improved since former years. In your own private "chalet," you have all the comforts of home—can prepare your own meals or visit one of the delightful restaurants in Jasper—and you step out of your door to gaze at mountains, rushing streams of clear, icy water, tall pine trees and a wealth of blazing alpine flowers.

Equipment for Jasper Mountain Climbing

Old clothes become half the attraction of trail-riding and mountain climbing. For the latter, light wool under garments . . . heavy, comfortable shoes . . . slacks or breeches and a weather - proof jacket. Shoes are of utmost importance . . . and should have low heels if possible.

Alpine Guides Colorful in Jasper

For "inside" information . . . stop along the street in Jasper and talk to one of the mountain guides—who direct pack trains into the mountains, or talk to visitors on short trail rides closer by. Experiences of these guides . . . and advice on how a vacationist can see the finest mountain views . . . provide interest that cannot be equalled. Occasionally, the tales are "high" . . . inspired by picturesque peaks no doubt . . . but never do these chats fail to be entertaining.

Jasper Road in Direction of Mt. Edith Cavell

One of the delightful trips still open to visitors to Jasper Park . . . the drive up a glorious mountain road to the valley of Cavell—where a straight upward glance reveals the awe-inspiring greatness of Mount Edith Cavell, with its over-hanging falls of ice and snow, with Angel Glacier nestled at the foot of the mountain.

Members of Jasper Chamber of Commerce Welcome Visitors

The town of Jasper is a flourishing commounity . . . most firms have been there for many years . . . and to holiday-ers, business men extend a warm welcome. They'll stop and pass the time of day . . . suggest points of interest—a favorite little-known spot for picnics—how to arrange for horses, bicycles or motor car trips—where to live during a holiday in Jasper—and give the week's evening entertainment plans.

Photogenic Scenery Is Paradise for Candid Camera Fans

Jasper is a world apart for amateur photographers . . . with views ever changing . . . with effects of sky, rock, stream and foliage unequalled anywhere in the world. Shops in Jasper can provide pictures, postcards and snaps for collectors . . . can serve the amateur photographer . . . and will be glad to assist in discovering unusual views.

JASPER BOASTS 'NO MOSQUITOES'

Care Taken Every Summer to Insure Annoyances of Hot Weather Being Non-Existent

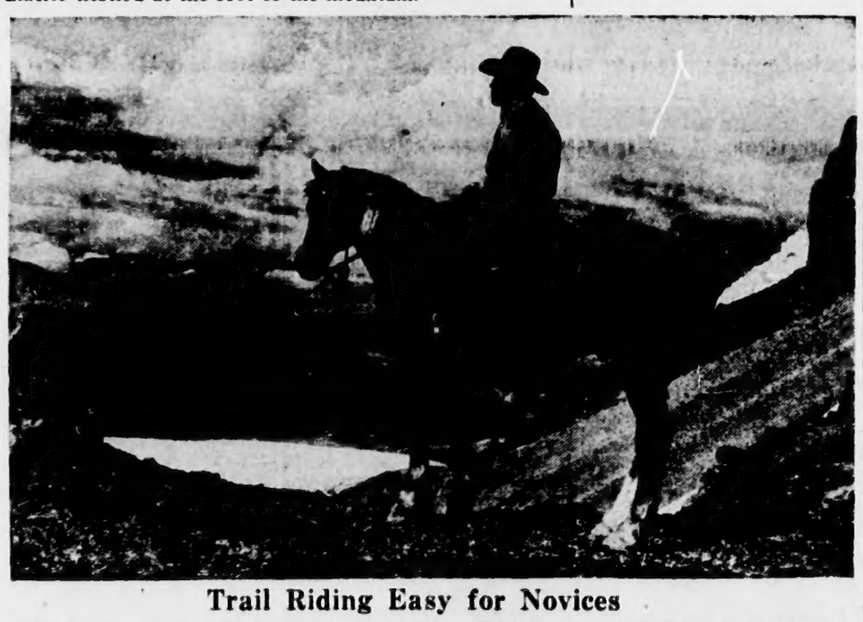

When the first mosquito appeared this summer . . . Jasper Park officials acted . . . and the insects never had a chance to get acquainted. Clear mountain air is untrammeled by pests . . . and trips into valleys or along well-marked trails can be enjoyed to the full.

Dust from Jasper roads is another vanquished foe to pleasure. This summer, every inch of road was sprayed with calcium-chloride . . . and driving, bicycling or walking along the highways, there is a notable lack of dust.

Bicycling Is Popular Pastime

The forgotten art of adults returns . . . a phase of childhood . . . as cyclists enjoy brisk rides. Bicycles are available in the town . . . and trails or highways lead to many of the Park's most fascinating sights, easily accessible by bicycle.

Trail Riding Easy for Novices

Usually associated with broncho busters and rodeo riders . . . trail riding comes under the heading of grand fun for holiday-ers at Jasper. Children . . . and adults . . . never before on a pony . . . become seasoned trail riders in a few hours. At a number of corrals in the town of Jasper, novices are shown how to handle trained steeds . . . so well trained in fact, that they can return home alone from any point in the park. It's a new pastime for Canadians . . . and highly popular with 1944 vacationists.

TRANSPORTATION TO JASPER

Road to Famous Park In Good Condition . . . Daily Train Service

For the family that has saved gas all year for a holiday . . . the road to Jasper is in excellent condition, and highways through the Park are a pleasure to drive.

Daily train service to Jasper is unequalled . . . for no pullman accommodation is required (always the most congested area in travelling today). A coach ticket suffices.

Two trains leave Edmonton every morning—arriving in Jasper early in the afternoon. Every afternoon, two trains leave Jasper . . . to arrive in Edmonton the same evening.

TRANSPORTATION IN JASPER

Taxi Buses . . . Bicycles . . . Ponies . . . All In Demand

There's a new feeling for travel in Jasper these days . . . as visitors rent bicycles (with special fondness for the tandem) . . . ride ponies through the streets and trails . . . and join one of the trips available by group taxis to anywhere within a fifteen-mile radius—which includes the chief views of Jasper's beauty . . . At Edith Cavell . . . Athabasca Falls . . . Circle Tour Park Lodge . . . Maligne Canyon . . . Twilight Drive around Pyramid Lake.

Province Holds 1943 Rate For Butter Making

Butter production in Alberta for the month of June shows a slight gain over the amount produced in June, 1943, according to figures released Thursday by D. H. McCallum, provincial dairy commissioner.

Total amount produced in June, 1944, was 5,514,700 pounds, 8,811 more than were produced in the same month last year, when 5,505,889 pounds were made.

By divisions, the 1944 total is made up as follows: Northern Alberta, 2,538,337 pounds; central, 1,970,533 pounds; south, 1,005,830 pounds. While production in the north was up by 4.9 per cent over 1943 figures, central and southern figures dropped by 2.3 and 6 per cent respectively.

For the month, Canadian butter production, 45,531,104 pounds, was down 2.2 per cent from 1943 totals. Canadian Creamery butter stocks for the same comparative period were down 11 per cent from last year.

CHEESE PRODUCTION

Factory cheese production in the province gained 42.6 per cent over last June, with 489,835 pounds produced compared to 350,625 pounds produced in 1943. The Canadian cheese figure went up by 14.6 per cent to 30,884,616 pounds for the same period.

Cheese stocks in Alberta for June were 44.7 per cent higher than in June 1943, standing at 1,259,276 pounds. All-Canadian stocks were 17.8 per cent higher, at 52,132,233 pounds.

City Enumerations May Reach 60,000

Edmonton city enumerations for the Aug. 8 provincial general election may exceed the 60,000-mark, it was indicated Thursday by H. H. Crawford, city returning officer.

In the 1940 election campaign, 59,685 voters were enumerated in Edmonton, while in the 1942 by-election, the total was 56,636.

Enumerators' returns now being received at Mr. Crawford's headquarters, 9832 Jasper avenue, show a ten per cent increase over polling division figures for the 1942 by-election.

Applications were still being received Wednesday from persons wishing to act as poll clerks and deputy returning officers on election day. All applicants for these posts must appear personally at returning officer's headquarters.

Plan to Hold Discussions About Poultry

To explain to producers the best ways to prepare birds for market, and the best time to make deliveries, the Alberta Poulty Federation will arrange a series of addresses for poultrymen, it was decided Tuesday at meetings of the federation, held in the Legislative Buildings.

The addresses will stress the importance of having birds in finished condition before they are marketed. It was pointed out that birds not ready for marketing are of no use, and many have to be returned to producers. Rail grading and its benefits also will be discussed.

The Federation decided to call a western poultry conference in the near future, at a time and place to be arranged. It is planned to hold the conference at a central point, most convenient for those planning to attend.

URGE INSTITUTE

The organization also decided to press for establishment of a poultry research institute, where poultry problems can be studied.

Reports read at the meeting showed that eggs received by the special products board in Alberta to the end of June of this year were approximately 98 per cent above last year's figures. The turkey business was reported to be good, and showing marked improvement.

Last year, the west experienced a surplus of turkeys, while there was a shortage in the east. Members felt some arrangement should be made to arrive at an even distribution of available birds.

F. J. Heffernon, federation president, was in the chair at the meetings, held Tuesday afternoon and evening. Mrs. J. Roberts is secretary of the organization.

Hospital Denies Inviting Japanese

Unqualified denial was given on Thursday by the Sisters of Charity operating the Vegreville General hospital, to a report that Canadian-born Japanese girls had been invited to train at the hospital as nurses.

The report was carried by the Canadian Press out of Vancouver and was credited to the Japanese New Canadian, a newspaper published at Vancouver.

The Sisters of Charity declared that there was no basis for the story, as at no time had Canadian-born Japanese girls been invited to train at the hospital.

Bank clearings through the Edmonton Clearing House for the week ended July 20 amounted to $10,016,258.19 as against $9,159,486.55 for the corresponding week of last year.

C.W.A.C.'s Leave to Train in East

Six members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps pictured above have left for Kitchener, Ont., where they will take a basic training course at No. 3 C.W.A.C. Basic Training Centre. Four of the girls are from Edmonton, one from St. Albert and one from Chisholm. They enlisted for service anywhere in the world. From left to right they are Theresa Durocher, St. Albert, Marguerite Jones, 11335 102 street, Edmonton; Alice Lester, 11932 88 street, Edmonton; Melvina Paish, Chisholm; Betty Pinnell, 10845 86 avenue, Edmonton, and Aileen Mair, 11542 89 street, Edmonton.

49th Association To Parade Aug. 13

The annual church parade of the 49th Battalion (The Loyal Edmonton Regiment) Association will take place at Edmonton on Sunday, Aug. 13. The parade will "Fall in" on the Market Square at 9:45 a.m. and move off at 10:50 a.m. The service will be held at the Legislative Building grounds as usual. Medals and berets will be worn with brassards on the right arm. Motor cars will follow the parade both going and returning to pick up those who find the march too much for them. The 2nd (Reserve) Battalion has been invited to attend and a cordial invitation is extended to all ranks of the 1st Battalion who have been returned to Edmonton, to take part. Capt. E. T. Scragg, chaplain of the association will conduct the service.

The annual luncheon after the parade will not be held this year due to the impossibility of making suitable arrangements.

"Forty-Niner" magazine will be mailed to members before the parade.

The military and bugle bands of the 2nd Battalion will play for the parade. Maj.-Gen. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., will command the parade.

Paper Salvage Is Urged Here

Do not destroy waste paper. The War Services council of Northern Alberta, continuing the salvage campaign, is making an urgent appeal to business firms and the public generally to salvage all waste paper.

A special request is made to department stores, hotels, office buildings, printing establishments, wholesale warehouses, apartment buildings, Dominion, provincial and U.S. government offices, army, air force and naval establishments to deliver all waste paper to the salvage depot, Cushing building, 120 street and 106 avenue. Telephone number at the depot is 81261.

"Will those good people, who have cars or trucks, help whenever possible by sending the salvage to the depot, as the trucking capacity of the salvage depot is taxed to the utmost," said an official.

Waste paper helps to produce: shell tubes, cartridge wads, bomb casings, shell wads, ammunition cartons, depth charge casings.

In order to accelerate production of these necessary war supplies paper of all kinds is needed now.

City Police Spend Arrest-less Day

City police Wednesday passed the day without making a single arrest, and it was 18 minutes past midnight when officers were called to the home of a Norwood district resident, where two alleged "peeping toms" had been surprised and held. The two were taken into custody by police and will appear in court.

Indian Lad Dead After Accident

Tom Francheeter, an Indian infant of Rocky Mountain House, died Wednesday as the result of being run over by a truck said by R.C.M.P. to have been driven by James Anderson. The boy's head was crushed as the vehicle backed over him. He was playing near a pile of lumber at the time.

The boy was the son of Mike Francheeter, Cree treaty Indian. Coroner A. Clayton Greenaway, together with Indian Agent Henry Stelfox, conducted an investigation and decided no inquest would be necessary.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION:

The elimination of "homogenized" milk from the market to save butterfat was protested by the Trades and Labor council at a recent meeting. What do you think about this matter?

THE ANSWERS:

MRS. JEAN LAHODOSKI, clerk: I think it was unnecessary to take "homo" milk off the market because it means that more high grade milk is sold. They say it is to save butterfat but I don't see how this is so if the sale of other milk increases.

* * *

MRS. M. CORNISH, storekeeper: I think "homo" milk is better than the regular milk we get. The children like it better and certainly more people bought it than the regular milk. I think that the excuse that it was done to save butterfat is wrong. I don't think there is enough cream in that type of milk to save that much.

* * *

FERN MILLAR, waitress: I don't think it was necessary to take it off the market. We sell a great deal less milk now than we used to. I don't like drinking regular milk as well as "homo" milk myself and I am sure there is no saving of butterfat that would be of any great moment.

City Shown in Air Map Centre

Shown clearly on a colored air map issued by Western Air Lines, Edmonton has a prominent spot in the air world of the future.

Representative here for the air lines, Alvin "Buck" Nichols, has received the first copies of the map, showing projected global air routes, and the great circle mileages between important cities in the world.

Edmonton is one of those "important cities" shown, the only one in Canada. It is linked on the map with almost every major centre in Europe and Asia. The map shows that it's only 4,702 miles over the top of the world from here to Moscow; 1,426 from Anchorage; 6,000 to Shanghai; 1,416 to Los Angeles; 4,474 to London.

Tribute Is Paid To Mrs. W. J. Dick

Christ church was filled to overflowing Wednesday when a funeral service was held for Mrs. W. J. Dick, prominent social welfare worker and patron of the arts, who died suddenly on Sunday. In the congregation were not only many personal friends, but also those with whom she had worked in bettering social conditions and in promoting the artistic welfare of the city.

The Rev. E. S. Ottley, rector of Christ church conducted the service.

Honorary pall bearers were Chief Justice Horace Harvey, Mr. Justice Frank Ford, H. M. E. Evans, George B. Henwood, K.C., Dr. Edgerton Pope and Thomas C. Douglas. Active pall bearers were H. R. Milner, K.C., James Walker, J. Boyd McBride, K.C., R. V. MacCosham, Wilfred Hutton and William Parmele. Howard and McBride funeral home was in charge of the arrangements.

After the Anglican funeral service Mr. Ottley paid tribute to Mrs. Dick and referred to her passing as "the result of such a complete giving of herself" to her work for others.

"She showed a wonderful generosity of spirit, a true Christian spirit, but she is so well known it would be gilding the lily to say much. With her passing will be felt a severe loss to her family, friends and the community in which she served. But the influence of her character, which left an effect on everyone with whom she came in contact long will be remembered and revered," he said.

Mrs. Dick is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Hutton, Edmonton, and Mrs. J. O. McCutcheon of Halifax; and a son, Donald, at home.

Estimate 2,000 Advance Votes

Advance poll records for Edmonton are liable to be broken in the three days of advance polling preceding the Aug. 8 provincial election, according to local election officers. It has been suggested as many as 2,000 advance votes may be cast.

One reason for the heavy poll is that some 500 Edmonton reserve army soldiers will go to annual summer camp on the Aug. 5 weekend. In order to take part in the election, they will have to ballot at the advance poll.

Advance votes may be cast on Aug. 3, 4 or 5 between 2 and 5 p.m., and from 7 to 10 p.m., at returning officer's headquarters, 9832 Jasper avenue.

Extra Gasoline Is Allowed For Alta. Election

Extra gasoline coupons have been allowed all candidates and officials for use in the provincial general election campaign, it was learned Thursday from Edmonton offices of the oil controller for Canada.

Regional control officers would not divulge exact amounts of "gas" permitted each candidate, pointing out a maximum quantity has been allotted each party on the basis of the number of candidates in the field. In many cases, the maximum will not be used, but in a few areas where settlements are far apart, more gasoline may be needed by aspirants for office. This allotment will be decided by party leaders.

"All parties are being treated on an equal basis," a gas ration official said. "The leaders are being allowed so much gasoline for each accredited candidate."

All four parties in the election race, Social Credit, CCF, Independent and Labor-Progressive, are being recognized by the oil controller, and in addition, "lone wolf" candidates who enter the field are also entitled to their share of extra gas ration tickets.

ELECTION OFFICERS

In addition to candidates, election officials have been allotted extra gasoline on the basis of mileage recorded in the 1940 provincial general election campaign. For this purpose, gas for 130,000 miles of traveling has been provided.

Gasoline coupons supplied are in the form of printed certificates, each worth one unit (three gallons) of gasoline. They are invalid after Aug. 9, day after the election.

The certificates, supplied by the Dominion oil controller, are numbered, and must be signed by the party or election official issuing them. In addition, the motor vehicle license number and name of user must be supplied before they can be honored by filling stations.

CONSTITUENCIES VARY

Size of constituencies in Alberta varies immensely, ranging from the 48,910 square miles of Athabasca riding to 42 square miles of Edmonton city multiple riding. Obviously, a candidate in Athabasca would need more gas to cover settlements in his territory than a city candidate, and it is for this reason that party leaders have been given discretion as to number of certificates to allocate to candidates.

While oil officials here would not give the amount of gasoline permitted candidates, other sources have indicated the amoun in any case would not exceed 40 units each (120 gallons) and in many cases would be much less.

Two Social Credit Meetings Friday

Social Credit party campaign meetings in Edmonton will begin Friday evening, with meetings scheduled at Calder community hall and St. Francis hall, North Edmonton, it was announced Thursday by campaign officers.

Premier Ernest Manning will be principal speaker at both meetings, while other city candidates, Orvis A. Kennedy, John B. Gillies, Harry D. Carrigan, and Norman B. James will also speak at the meetings.

Meetings will open at 8 p.m. sharp.

Boys and Girls To Camp in City

The boys and girls in the Mountglen district will have a taste of camp life right here in the city this summer. From July 31 to Aug. 25 the Mountglen Community "Y" is operating camps for both boys and girls, ages 7 to 18 years. The boys will have headquarters at the Mountglen Community "Y" at 127 street and 110 avenue, while the girls' camp will centre at Westmount school. Both groups will be out-of-doors as much as possible.

The camps will operate from Monday to Friday each week, with Wednesday afternoon free. The day will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The program will include handicrafts of all kinds for both boys and girls; dramatics, sports, beauty culture and personality groups for the girls, free swims, hikes, camp fires, and excursions to places of interest in the city.

There will be fun for everyone, at low cost, fifty cents a week and a registration fee of 25 cents.

All boys and girls interested should register immediately. Registration forms and folders with details are available at the Mountglen Community 'Y'. Registration should be made there at once. Further information may be had from Dency McCalla, director of the gorls' camp, and Hart Cantelon, director of the boys' camp. Telephone 81426.

Harold Weir, chairman, was asked to make the draw for the bungalow as well as for the second and third prizes of $1,000 and $500 Victory Bonds respectively.

Mr. Heffner, program director of the American Red Cross club, thanked the War Services Council on behalf of the American servicemen for the opening of the Allied Services Recreation Centre, and reiterated that a warm welcome awaited all Canadian servicemen at the American Red Cross club. H. Brock Smith reported that several donations of good records had been made to the music appreciation room of the new centre and that this phase of the centre was meeting with warm approval.

U.S. Officer's Son Is Praised For Ingenuity

Brig.-Gen. Dale V. Gaffney, commanding general, Alaskan Wing, Air Transport Command, U.S.A.A.F., received word today that his airman son, 2-Lt. Dale Gaffney, on duty with the United States 9th Air Force Troop Carrier Command in England, had coolly called on his crew to pour four carteens of water into the hydraulic system of his badly crippled Douglas transport to enable it to land safely after successfully completing his first combat mission.

A dispatch from the 9th Air Force describes the 26-year-old Gaffney's exploit as follows:

It was the night of the European invasion. The objective had been reached and accomplished. As the C-47 transport on which Gaffney was co-opilot started for home, flak damaged the hydraulic system and several fuel lines.

One landing wheel hung halfway down and the other stuck in the retracted position. Several instruments, including gasoline gauges, stopped functioning.

The ingenuity and complete cooperation of the entire crew were called on to bring the plane home safely. At the last minute, Gaffney suggested pouring their drinking water into the hydraulic system in an effort to operate the planes landing gear. It worked.

The plane landed safely, just as one engine and then the other sputtered and stopped, the fuel tanks "bone dry."

Young Gaffney, a 1942 graduate of Schreiner Institute at Kerrville, Texas, won his wings at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Texas, last January. His father is commanding general of the Alaskan Wing, Air Transport Command here.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

High School Girls Find Lassies Ask for Dates

Career Helps Dateless Girl; Full, Useful Life Possible Without Boys and Petting Parties; Should Develop Mind

Dear Miss Dix: We are two high school girls and we find that the girls who get dates obtain them by asking the boys, and as we are too dignified to do this we have no boy friends. Are boys too shy now to ask a girl for a date? Boys may be scarce during the war, but we do not feel that we should ask them for dates unless it is compulsory.

TWO DESPERATE GIRLS.

Answer: Boys are never too shy to ask for what they want, and so if you have no dates it is for some reason other than their timidity. Probably it is because they have been spoiled by the supply being so scarce that they have passed into the luxury class and they no longer have to run after the girls, the girls are chasing them.

In such cases the bold, aggressive grabbers get theirs, while the modest ones get left. And this is as true of men as it of apples or anything else in life. If the war goes on much longer, maybe the government will have to ration boy friends as well as groceries to make them go around.

Undoubtedly these are sad days for girls who have a normal desire for dates and yet who are too much ladies to be able to use the strong-armed method of acquiring them.

But since there is no miracle by which the visible man supply can be increased, the best thing that you little Janes can do is to forget about them and devise some way of making for yourselves an Adamless Eden.

For there are a lot of interesting things in the world besides boys and petting parties, and if you will turn your thoughts on developing your mind instead of your emotions, and espousing a career instead of a husband, you will find that you can have a very full and useful and comfortable life.

Not all interest in life is bounded by a wedding ring.

WORKS AT NIGHT

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a husband who is loving and kind. He works at night and sleeps practically all day. His one and only free day is Sunday and I feel that he should devote that to me and the children, but he often makes dates with other people for that day. I don't begrudge him wanting to go out, but I feel that his family should come first, considering that we have only one entire day a week together.

DISCONTENTED WIFE.

Answer: Not all men are domestic-minded. There are men whose whole interest in life centers in their homes, and who ask nothing better than to spend their holidays puttering around the house and listening to their children's babble, and going with their wives and kids for a walk around the block. But there are other men who are never completely house-broken. They have to have some outside diversion, some masculine society. They must fish, or hunt, or play golf. And the wives who tie them too tightly to their apron strings do so at their peril.

My suggestion to you is not to deprive your husband of all of his days off, but to compromise. Go half and half with him. Let him stay at home with you and the children one Sunday and go fishing the next.

PARENTS RIGHT

Dear Dorothy Dix: Is it proper for two girls of 17 and 18 to go to see their boy friends at their training camps? The boys want us to come, but our parents object.

TWO JANES.

Answer: Your parents are right, unless you are going properly chaperoned.

There is little truth to the popular idea that hand-made articles are always superior and more valuable than machine-made goods. Quite the opposite would be nearer the truth. Hand-made ballbearings for automobiles and other machinery would be unthinkable. The very fact that they were "imperfect", as most hand-made things are, would make them useless.

Automobile tires made by hand won't compare with tires made with modern machinery. If we are looking for beauty hand-made articles may be superior because of their lack of uniformity, but for most commercial articles for daily use most people prefer those made by modern machinery.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Any setbacks in habit training are enormously upsetting to the parent. Having worked to establish the child's good habits, she wants him to continue to practice them. If he does not she can find no excuses for him. "Naughty boy," she scolds. "You know better."

Of course he knows better. He knows how to feed himself, he's done it for months or even years. But comes the day when he won't eat unless someone feeds him. He is demanding. If his mother refuses, then he merely looks at his food, or stares out of the window, or goes away from the table. Given some help, he eats willingly enough.

The question the mother should ask herself at that moment is: What is more important, that he eat or that he feed himself?

It is certain that sooner or later every mother will encounter such behavior. Self-feeding for the infant is sheer delight. He is fascinated by his own efforts to put the spoon into food, load it and lift it to his mouth. But once he has become proficient at it, the delight no longer exists. It is just work. And there are days when he is too tired to work that hard. He may not be hungry, someone having foolishly fed him between meals. He may be feeling sleepy and would prefer to go to bed hungry than to struggle to wield a spoon.

These are all temporary situations which exist at this meal, or on this day and may not at any other. It is just because they are temporary that it is all right for the mother to give a helping hand—without berating the child—and get him past this bad spot.

How much better for her to say, "Now I'll give you one spoonful and then you give yourself one. Won't that be fun?" rather than, "You're able to feed yourself and I'm not going to do it. If you don't want to eat, then you can go hungry."

There are always times when the mother will have to step in and help the child to eat, or to bathe or dress himself or pick up toys, even though he is perfectly capable of doing these things for himself. Do it graciously and helpfully. In no time the child will be ready to accept the responsibilities again. And no hard feelings inspired.

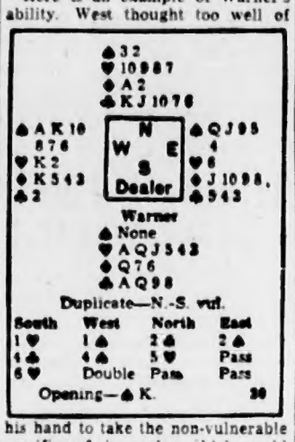

Our leaflet, "Helping the Slow Child," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

In winning the mixed pair event at Reading, Pa., and finishing second in the team-of-four, David Warner, of Philadelphia, has confirmed the opinion of Philadelphia experts that this young man is one of our future stars.

Here is an example of Warner's ability. West thought too well of his hand to take the non-vulnerable sacrifice of six spades, which would have paid rich dividends. The opening lead was ruffed by Warner (South) with the three of hearts. Although he saw that his contract was by no means a lay-down, he went about the task of making it in workmanlike fashion. The ace of hearts was led, and when both opponents followed, Warner led a club to dummy and ruffed out dummy's last spade. Then four more rounds of clubs followed which West refused to ruff. Now Warner led a trump. West was forced to win and lead a diamond which Warner permitted to run to the queen in his own hand. You will note that if dummy had not been voided of spades, West would have held a safe exit. Others who took the trump finesse failed to fulfill the contract, losing one diamond and the king of trumps.

Minute Make-Ups

First, cleanse your skin with soft, fluffy cleansing cream. It leaves your skin clean and Flower-Fresh. Now pat lightly with skin freshener. Use a small pad of cotton, which has first been squeezed out in cold water. For the lined, "weary" sagging skin use icy-cold skin freshener. Then apply foundation cream and just see the smooth result!

THINGS IN THE EAR

Talking about hardened wax in the ear the other day we reminded readers of a good rule for every one to remember in any circumstance: Never insert in the ear anything smaller than your elbow.

It is astonishing how much trouble comparatively slight irritation in outer ear canal or irritation of the outer surface of the ear drum may cause. It is equally astonishing—and to a doctor perhaps embarrassing—how easily such a cause of trouble may be overlooked.

The irritation in such cases may be due to a plug of hardened ear wax, or to a foreign body which has lodged in the ear canal by mischance or has been inserted by a child, or an insect which has entered the ear, or the larvae of a fly or other insect that has deposited eggs there, or a fungus growing in the skin like that of ringworm or foot itch.

If there is reason to believe a live insect is in the ear, let the patient lie on opposite side and drown the insect by keeping the ear filled with warm water, or preferably by irrigating the ear with agreeably warm salt water (level tablespoonful table salt in quart of water) from a fountain syringe held not more than a foot or so above level of ear and a blunt straight nozzle to direct the stream into ear canal but not touch the ear. If the insect is not readily washed out in this way, chloroform it by pouring a teaspoonful of chloroform on a wad of absorbent cotton or gauze in a cup or tumbler, and holding it on the ear so that the chloroform vapor may penetrate ear canal, but of course never attempt to put even a drop of chloroform in the ear. If the insect does not wash away after chloroforming, there is nothing more you can do except fill the ear with sweet oil, olive oil or mineral oil and call on a physician.

Accumulation of dry hardened ear wax, or any foreign body in the ear, may cause unaccountable disturbances of taste, harsh inexplicable coughing, distressing ear noise, spells of nausea, dizziness.

I still blush at the recollection of the grocer's boy with the "elephant" cough. I stripped and examined the lad time after time and found not a thing to account for the cough. But summer came, and Saturday night, and the lad had a bath, got a little water in his ear, and came complaining of the rumbling. I found a plug of hardened wax, and each time I touched the rear wall of the ear canal the lad coughed to beat the band. Irritation of Arnold's branch of pneumogastric nerve. After the ear canal was cleared there was no more cough. After that, believe me, I insisted on examining the ears with speculum and headlight even if the patient assured me he only had a pain in the ankle.

Canadians Attack Nazi Supply Dump

LONDON, July 20—(CP)—Canadian crews took part in an R.A.F. attack on a German supply dump at Orleans, south of Paris, by medium bombers yesterday and R.C.A.F. Typhoon fighter-bombers maintained dawn-to-dusk patrols over the Normany battlefield area.

Canadians who flew in the Mitchell bombers on the Orleans sortie included Sgt. E. N. G. Powell, of Traux, Sask., PO. S. L. W. Pattyson of Regina, and E. A. Wells of Winnipeg.

A squadron of the Normandy-based Typhoons commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. Bill Pentland of Calgary, flew 44 sorties in daylight in the face of intense ack-ack.

WO. Richard Watson of Oba, Northern Ontario, baled out into no man's land from a blazing aircraft and limped back to his squadron 12 hours later after helping to escort 120 Germans to a prison camp. A German shell ripped his parachute and an enemy machine-gun carrier caved in a slit trench 10 feet from where he was hiding. It was not explained how he escaped and joined the prisoner escort.

Foremost Soldier Also Crash Victim

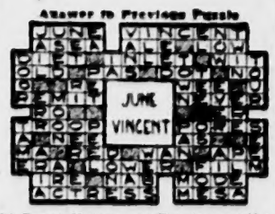

CALGARY, July 20. — (CP) — Military authorities announced yesterday the soldier who died in hospital here Tuesday night from injuries received when a Bren gun carrier "threw a track" during manaeuvres at Sarcee training camp Tuesday, was Pte. R. W. Wilson of Foremost, Alta. His death brought to three the number who lost their lives in the accident. It was announced Tuesday night Pte. A. McGowan of Calgary, was one of the men who lost his life. The third man has not been identified.

The way you bake at home is different from commercial baking...

for home baking you need home-type flour

Home-type Kitchen Craft Flour gives finer results in all home baked foods

Your home-size recipes aren't the same as big-batch bakers use. Your ingredients are different, too. You use a home-type shortening. A home-type baking powder.

For perfect results, now try a home-type flour. Kitchen Craft Flour is made especially for home baking. It has these important advantages:

Kitchen Craft is light-bodied: Mixes smoothly and quickly with other home-type ingredients to give fine even texture in all your home-baked foods.

Kitchen Craft is properly milled: Retains desirable moisture in your pastries, cakes and breads in spite of the drier heat of home ovens.

Kitchen Craft is dependably uniform: Absorbs the same amount of water each time — so you can always follow your recipes to the letter.

Give this home-type flour a trial. See if you don't notice improved quality in all your baking, right away. Your grocer has Kitchen Craft Flour in convenient and economical sizes.

Your choice of 2 finest-grade white flours

BOTH made specially for home baking

City Backyard Transformed Into Fairylike Playground

By KAY FORD

A backyard transformed into a fairy playground is what this Bulletin reporter found when she visited the prize winning garden of Mrs. Hilda May McAfee, 11230 92 street, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. McAfee has won five first prizes for her garden and last year also won first for her velvet-like lawn.

The gardener plants every plant herself and there is not one lowly weed to be found. She says her husband cuts the lawn for her and keeps the edges trimmed.

Each year Mrs. McAfee changes her color scheme. This year it is blue and gold with touches of pink. One year she said her all-white flowers against the green foliage made a striking picture.

SMALL SPACE

"How can you get so much in such a small space and not have it look crowded and everything look so healthy?" is a favorite question her many visitors ask, for the lot is small and on it stands a modest little bungalow.

Mrs. McAfee answers this question by telling how she plans her garden, starting at the back fence for the front is usually very small. If the fence is not very high, a little chicken wire added will help to make that extra height necessary for the growing of vines, both flowers and vegetables. There are wonderful heavenly blue morning glorias, Cobaea scandens, easy to grow and wonderful to look at; canary bird vine with its beautiful cut foliage and dainty canary yellow flowers; cardinal climber with cardinal scarlet blooms; ornamental gourds, also the scarlet runner beans with their clusters of scarlet flowers, which tend to help out the victory garden, which is a permanent fixture of the garden.

AROUND GARAGE

Around the garage where the water is constantly dripping after a rain storm, or sometimes flooded out, are planted ferns which spread rapidly and also a border of marsh marigolds. The ferns are a contrast against the dark foliage of the marsh marigold. This is also a permanent fixture Mrs. McAfee said.

The garage window is dressed up with a small box faced with bark to keep that rustic effect in the garden and the gardener says this saves buying paint every year to freshen up the window boxes. She warns to be careful to watch the color scheme in the boxes.

There are fruit trees, crab apple and plums, which after having a dazzling mass of blooms has first green fruit and then red right up to the frost.

GARDEN TREES

The mountain ash trees in the garden make not only shade and beauty but the clusters of pretty red cherries bring flocks of pretty bohemian wax-wings with the tips of yellow and red on their tails and funny little top-knots.

The back-yard lawn is placed in such a position as to allow about a three-foot space planted with a perennial border with front borders of annuals. The shape of the lawn has a different look not square or round but swinging curves here and there. There is no flower bed placed in the centre. The three-foot space builds up a back-ground for privacy, Mrs. McAfee pointed out. The lawn is not too large because there is the victory garden too.

LILY POOLS

There are many things in the garden—lily pools, rock gardens, the old garden seat in rustic style, which is placed on a small city lot, in miniature of course. An old oak barrel sawed in half is a great substitute for a large lily pool, which looks wonderful in a large garden, but would look much out of place on her 33 foot lot, the gardener said.

The stones in the cactus garden are amber, petrified walnut, unpolished crystal and moss agates.

The children in Edmonton visit Mrs. McAfee and her beautiful garden and one lad this week exclaimed, "Look, just like Hollywood, lily pads, diving boards and gold fish all in the pool."

The lighthouse beside which a fisherman is fishing in a creek running under a bridge, in miniature, attracts grown-ups and young.

SACRED LOTUS

The newest flower to be tried by Mrs. McAfee in her garden is the Sacred Lotus. This strikingly beautiful plant is grown in 20th century gardens. Four thousand years ago in the sacred gardens of Egypt, where dwelt the priests and the people came to worship, there were gigantic pools of porphyry where the Sacred Lotus grew dedicated to the ancient deities. The Lotus, springing from the mud, lifting its golden headed blossoms high above the water and opening pure and spotless to the sun, was symbolic of the rise of the soul of man.

Mrs. McAfee's garden is entered in the garden contest which takes place next week.

Edmontonians Wed in East

In the flower bedecked chapel of Metropolitan United church, Toronto, July 15, the double ring marriage ceremony took place of Miss Elizabeth Maude (Betty) Boon, daughter of Mrs. G. W. Boon, of Edmonton and the late Mr. Boon, and OD. Lawrence David Collins, R.C.N.V.R., son of A. P. Collins of Edmonton, and the late Mrs. Collins. The Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce performed the ceremony.

The bride's wedding ensemble was a two-piece suit of white eyelet pique. Her hat was a small white model trimmed in veiling. A corsage of gardenias pinned at her shoulder completed her outfit.

After the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was held at the Royal York hotel to immediate members of the family.

The couple left on a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a blue and white figured summer suit worn with white accessories. On their return they have taken up temporary residence at St. Hyacinthe, Que., where the bridegroom is stationed.

Mrs. Boon, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Bruce Flavin, sister of the bride, of Edmonton, attended the wedding.

Milady's Bag Is a Catch-All

Milady's purse of today not only holds the essentials of ones every day needs, but is oodles large enough to use as a week-end bag.

Manufacturers apparently realized it was better to make them larger than have the smaller ones bulge out of shape, and the gals today surely do fill them.

MANY ARTICLES

One particular lassie emptied the contents of her purse in this reporters presence. She, like Fibber McGee who always says "I must clean that closet someday, said "I must clean this purse some day." It included a compact, two combs, mirror, wallet, glasses, sun glasses, three lip sticks, one handerchief one kleenex, one date book, three sticks of gum, four pencils, nailfile, tweezers, several keys, change purse, nine letters, several cards, receipts, raffle tickets, bills, snapshots, bobbie pins, pen nibs, pen, tooth brush, three book matches, for her borrowing friends, who invariably are always saying "have you a match", how well we all know them.

SPECIAL PROBLEM

A particular problem is that of matching purses with ones outfits, and what a stickler that is! especially in this day and age—an expensive one at that. The clever girls of course can whip up their own to harmonize, and these are most attractive. The majority of us must choose carefully, in the hopes one bag will supply many needs.

So ladies, you see purses can be a problem as well as a convenience.

Earle Leslie Weds at Coast

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 20—The marriage of Miss Thelma Mae Causey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Causey, of New Westminster, to Earle Leroy Leslie, son of Mrs. A. R. Leslie, of Edmonton, and the late Mr. Leslie, took place on July 10, in Sixth Avenue United church. The Rev. J. S. Troyer officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white sheer over taffeta with an embroidered neckline, full skirt, gathered on a shirred girdle. Her finger-tip veil fell from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. She carried white heather, sweetpeas, carnations and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Vera Marshall, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaid was Miss Isabel Patterson. Noreen Causey, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

LAC. Arthur Minor was best man, and ushering were Clinton Causey and LAC Don Millman.

Following the reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for Edmonton. They will reside in New Westminster.

Matter Dropped Says Landeryou About Ejection

CALGARY, July 20.—(CP)—J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit nominee for Lethbridge in the Aug. 8 Alberta general election, who was ejected from a CCF public meeting at Lethbridge Tuesday night, yesterday issued a statement on his ejection and said he did not intend to take action in connection with the "assault" and he "considered the matter dropped."

Following is Mr. Landeryou's statement:

"I was forcibly ejected by at least four men, including an unidentified assailant who struck me a blow on the side of the neck. Other members of the gang threatened me with words and action. One of them said, 'trip him' as I was walking out, and an attempt was made to do so but was foiled."

INDIGNATION AROUSED

"What aroused my indignation was the attempt of M. J. Coldwell to accuse by inference the Social Credit party of acting like the Nazis in attacking the Jews. Mr. Coldwell's statement and that subsequent action by his supporters conform to the tactics used in the totalitarian countries."

Mr. Landeryou said he had received a cut on his neck and a bruise on his ear while being ejected.

COLDWELL DECLARES HE WAS MISQUOTED

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said in a telegram to The Canadian Press here yesterday that he had been misquoted in a dispatch from Lethbridge, Alta., Tuesday night and continued that he had not charged Norman Jaques (SC—Wetaskiwin) with saying that Canadian finance was controlled by Jews.

"I said that he quoted the Protocols of Zion in parliament to support his assertion international finance was controlled by Jews who were plotting to control the world," said Mr. Coldwell in his telegram.

(Mr. Coldwell's statement on the Lethbridge platform was followed by J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit nominee for Lethbridge in the Alberta provincial election, saying that if the C.C.F. leader was saying the Social Credit party was against the Jews he was a "liar." Mr. Landeryou was carried bodily from the meeting when he refused to apologize.)

DEBATE IN COMMONS

In a debate in the Commons on July 12, 1943, Mr. Jaques quoted from the Protocols of Zion, saying he did not guarantee their authenticity. During his reading Mr. Coldwell interjected the remark that he did not believe in the Protocols, but Mr. Jaques said the truth of statements in the documents about the power of gold could not be denied.

"As for the statement that a certain group of people are using gold, and that there is danger, surely that cannot be denied," said Mr. Jaques.

He said there had been "a deliberate plot" on behalf of world financiers to reduce the world to a state of servitude and he did not propose to run away from the issue because "you may injure the feelings, if you like, of the Jews."

Active Troops, Draftees Clash At Currie Base

CALGARY, July 20—(CP)—The The Calgary Herald in a news-page story yesterday said some 150 men were involved in a fracas in which "rifles and bayonets were brandished at A16 Currie barracks Tuesday night, when the ill-feeling between general service men and draftees reached fever-heat and broke into open warfare."

The Herald said according to meagre information available none was seriously injured and added the draftees had been removed from the barracks and now are bivouaced under canvas on the Sarcee reserve, southwest of Calgary.

STARTED IN CANTEEN

"The fight started in the canteen when the draftees commenced to sing 'It's better to be a zombie than a general service man.'

"Tables were overturned in the fight which followed when the general service men openly resented the implication of the words of the song.

"The draftees ran to their hut and grabbed their rifles and bayonets to repel the general service men.

"Then the draftees barricaded themselves in their hut and the general service men ran to their huts for their own arms.

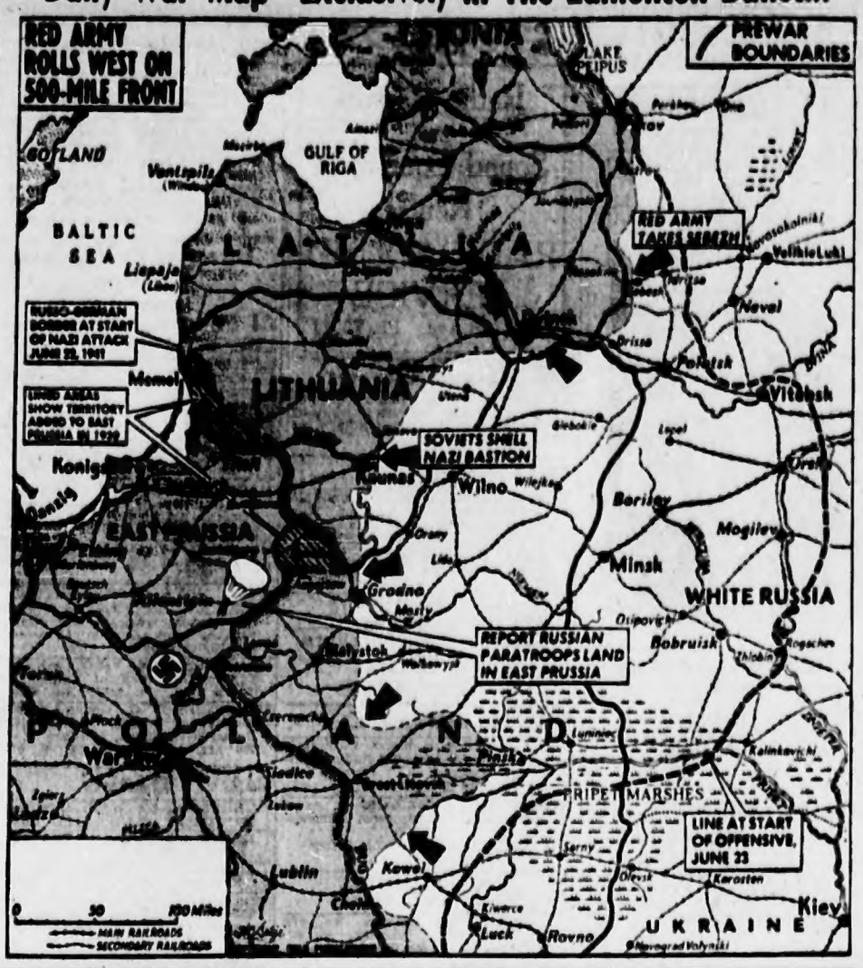

"The two groups did not clash after both were armed but the general service men milled around the draftee stronghold for about two hours."

Farmers To Get More Machinery

OTTAWA, July 20.—(CP)—Farmers who have been doing a grand job on the land despite difficulty since war started of obtaining spare parts to keep run-down equipment in order, soon will get some relief, Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, said here yesterday. During the 12 months which started July 1, Canadian implement manufacturers will produce more farm machinery, including spare parts, for the domestic market than in any corresponding period since war started, he said.

Coldwell States CCF Will Take Over the Banks

CALGARY, July 20.—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said in an address here last night that no part of the Social Credit monetary theories could be carried out without public ownership of banks.

He said the Social Credit party seemed unable to make up its mind about banking. J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit house leader in the Commons, wished the banks to be left in private hands and had been supported by Norman Jaques, Social Credit member of parliament for Wetaskiwin.

SUPPORTED BY FIVE

But on a CCF motion in the Commons calling for nationalization of the banks, five of the federal Social Credit members supported nationalization, while the other five members failed to vote, said Mr. Coldwell.

Mr. Coldwell said the banks claimed they were not a monopoly because they competed for loans, but their rates were fixed.

"The banks deny they are a monopoly, because, they say, they compete for loans," Mr. Coldwell continued. "But the facts are there: they pay the same rate of interest on deposits; they charge the same rates of interest to the same classes of borrowers; they close down competing branch offices; and they adhere to the rules laid down by the Bankers' Association.

"They may compete for loans, just as the oil companies compete for business, but their rates are fixed, just as the prices charged by oil companies are fixed, and they are both monopolies as far as the individual is concerned."

ESSENTIAL STEP

Mr. Coldwell said public ownership of the banking system was an essential step in any sane program of post-war reconstruction, currency and credit must be geared to productive capacity if there were to be jobs for all and an "end must be made of the rule of our self-perpetuating financial autocracy."

The transformation of the banking system into a national service was of vital importance to the welfare of farmer and worker alike. It was a necessary part of any overall economic plan for the full utilization of human and material resources.

Both Mr. Coldwell and Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A., and provincial CCF leader who also spoke at last night's meeting, referred to Tuesday night's meeting at Lethbridge from which J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit candidate in the forthcoming Alberta general election, was ejected.

ESCORTED "PEACEFULLY"

Mr. Roper said Mr. Landeryou had been "peacefully escorted from the meeting at the request of the crowd" after he had called Mr. Coldwell a "liar."

It was not until he was outside, Mr. Roper said, "that he made a remark about the fascist tendencies of the CCF which had aroused the ire of an ex-serviceman, father of three sons overseas.

"If Mr. Landeryou received a blow that's where he got it," Mr. Roper said.

In his address last night Mr. Roper quoted an editorial which he said appeared in the Edmonton Journal July 8 "that the Social Credit government merited greater confidence under Premier Manning" than it had formerly and "suggested that supporters of the Independent party give their second choice votes to Social Credit candidates rather than CCF.

"It will be a sorry day for M. J. Coldwell, a sorry day for me and a sorry day for all of you when the CCF wins the confidence of the millionaire press of Canada," he declared.

TO TAKE OVER POWER

Mr. Roper repeated a statement made at previous meetings that one of the first acts of the CCF government if elected in Alberta, would be to take over the plant and lines of the Calgary Power Company, and establish a provincial power system serving farms and rural communities.

The CCF, Mr. Roper said, would also take over the profits of the oil companies and use the wealth that was "pouring out of the country" to provide public services and a progressive health program without increasing taxation.

Former Treasurer Given Jail Term

OTTAWA, July 20.—(CP)—Frederick George Cormie, 50-year-old former assistant treasurer of the war services department, was sentenced yesterday by Judge McDougall to three years' imprisonment on 25 charges involving the theft, forgery and uttering of cheques. Sgt. Detective William H. Styran told court the total amount of the cheques involved in all charges was in the "vicinity of $3,000." There were 11 charges of forgery, one of uttering, and 13 of theft.

Large Number Active Soldiers, Draftees Clash

OTTAWA, July 20.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said today in the Commons a court of inquiry investigating disturbances at Petawawa military camp had found that on at least two occasions disturbances had involved more than 150 men.

Col. Ralston said he wished to correct a previous statement made in the Commons in reply to Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, who had asked for information on reports of clashes between active soldiers and members of the home army.

Col. Ralston recalled that he said at that time that only two altercations involving two men had taken place. He said today that information was based on a hurried telephone call.

CLASHES ON JUNE 25, 26

Since then he had received the report of a court of inquiry which showed there had been at least two disturbances which started out as a fight between two soldiers but which grew in proportion until more than 150 men were milling about before order was restored.

He said the two disturbances had occurred near a canteen on June 25 and 26.

Col. Ralston said that in the 75 military training camps throughout Canada there had been "remarkably few" disputes between general service and home defence troops, but in Petawawa there were more differences than in any other camp.

He added that when a fight started outside a soldiers' canteen it must not be considered unusual for 200 or 300 men to also get into it.

NO REPORT ON CURRIE

He said that by virture of the original misinformation he had given in the Petawawa incidents he was not prepared at this time to comment on a disturbance at a Calgary camp recently.

"I am not going to furnish any information prematurely again," he added.

1,369 Jap Troops Lost as Frontal Assaults Beaten

ADVANCE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, July 20.—(AP)—Stung by the loss of 1,369 men in unsuccessful frontal assaults, the Japanese have changed their tactics and now are attempting to out-flank Allied lines on the Driniumor river, in British New Guinea, headquarters announced yesterday.

This toll of known Japanese dead, up to Tuesday, included 582 reported yesterday.

Three Japanese assaults and a series of probing drives have been repulsed.

Medium bombers Monday sank a 2,000-ton freighter at Halmaheera, 300 miles south of the southern Philippines.

This brought the shipping bag of the last three days to 10 ships, six coastal craft and at least nine barges sunk or crippled.

Death Ends Long Fight to Reverse Verdict of Court

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—Oberlin M. Carter, 88, died Tuesday, thus ending his 45-year battle to set aside a court-martial verdict that cut short his career as an army engineer.

In 1899, Carter was convicted by court-martial on a charge of defrauding the government in letting contracts for numerous river and harbor improvements. And was sent to Leavenworth penitentiary for five years.

In 1939 the House of Representatives military affairs committee voted to invalidate the conviction and to vindicate Carter. He hoped to receive the same action in the Senate.

Senator Denies Speech Is Insult To All Quebec

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—Senator T. D. Bouchard (L—Quebec), speaking in the Senate, yesterday denied that an address he had made June 21 referring to action by minority groups seeking to establish a French state in Canada had been an insult to the province of Quebec.

Senator Bouchard spoke after Senator L. A. David (L—Quebec) had said the earlier speech implied that Quebec was disloyal.

The exchange between the two senators came at the conclusion of a debate on a motion by Senator David seeking action on the preparation of a textbook on Canadian history which would be acceptable to all provinces.

FIRST REFERENCE

Senator Bouchard, referring for the first time in the red chamber to his June 21 speech which aroused wide controversy, said he considered he had a perfect right to speak out in the Senate concerning Quebec affairs.

Senator David prefaced his remarks on Senator Bouchard's speech by commenting it was difficult to criticize a person with whom long association had proven good intentions.

"Even supposing there should be in Quebec—and I will go the limit—a few anti-British, and in every part of the Empire you can find some anti-British, if there are some of them in Quebec are you going to condemn the whole of French-Canadians?" he asked.

Senator Bouchard said: "When a French-Canadian speaks in the Senate he speaks in his proper home. The country for a French-Canadian as well as for a Canadian of any other descent extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

"My national family is the Canadian family and when I speak here I speak to my brothers."

Senator David's motion was adopted without a recorded vote.

New Principle

Lad, 4½, May Have Found Answer to Robot Bombs

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—A 4½-year-old boy was credited by the president of a precision instrument company yesterday with discovering a new physics principle that might lead to the repelling of Nazi robot bombs now being directed at England.

The boy, Frederick Andrus Gautesen of Plainfield, N.J., sat silently at a press conference given by Mrs. H. M. McNab, president of McNab, Inc., of Bridgeport, Conn., manufacturers of precision instruments.

Mrs. McNab said a device intended as a counter-agent of the robots had been developed on the basis of the child's chance conversation with a mechanic concerning the similarity of movement between a garter snake and an elastic wrist watch band.

J. Scott Williams, a member of the board of directors of the company, said the principle questioned Newton's third law of motion, that "every action has an equal and opposite reaction."

Mrs. McNab declined to elaborate on the device or the principle, but said:

"Scientists believe it is sound and that it is a step in the direction of repelling the Nazi robot bombs and another weapon that may come from Germany and Japan.

"The army and navy have both been advised, and officials of the company and other scientists who have been working on the project will go to Washington, D.C., today."

The child's mother, widow of Alf O. Gaustesen, a marine engineer killed in an automobile accident two years ago, said the boy was unusually observant.

319 Known Dead, Missing in Blasts

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20—(AP)—The United States Navy announced yesterday at least 319 men were known dead or missing in Monday night's terrific explosion of two ammunition ships at Port Chicago, on San Francisco Bay, 35 miles from here.

The U.S. worst wartime blast, caused the loss of 203 men, 31 or 32 members of the Naval Armed Guard, nine naval officers, five coast guardsmen, and about 80 civilian crew members of the two vessels.

In addition, three civilian deaths have been reported.

A total of 240 naval personnel were injured, none seriously, the announcement said.

A navy estimate placed property damage at $2,000,000, aside from the $4,300,000 value of the two ships.

Missing Overseas

WINNIPEG, July 20—(CP)—Rev George A. Harris, former curate of All Saints church here, has been reported missing while serving overseas with a Canadian paratrooper battalion, it was learned yesterday. He was the first Anglican army chaplain to land in France during the invasion.

CURIOUS WORLD

Answer: No. The beaver is amphibious, but does not belong to the zoological group, "amphibia," of cold-blooded water-land creatures.

Police Pressing Intensive Hunt For Wanted Man

While no further reports of the man-hunt for Paul Abraham, 23-year-old Cherhill Indian, who allegedly shot and killed his wife Monday night, have been received by Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters in Edmonton, the search was being continued, officials here stated Thursday.

A large contingent of police officers, assisted by residents of the Cherhill district, and led by the famous police dog, Peter Pan, were still scouring the area where the shooting was said to have taken place.

According to police reports, the 27-year-old wife of the Indian fled from their tent when, at the height of a family quarrel between themselves and her father, John O'Chase, chief of the tribe, her husband seized his .22 rifle.

He was believed to have followed her into the bushes, and shortly after the explosion of a firearm was heard. Later, the lifeless body of the woman was discovered, while the gun was said to have been found nearby.

Abraham, however, had fled, and immediately upon receipt of the news R.C.M.P. officers swung into action.

The body of the woman was to be bought to Edmonton, police stated. A post-mortem will be held here.

Before the Magistrate

The disregard for wartime measures brought from Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C., Wednesday afternoon words of warning, some penalties and some suggestions to those accused of selling their services at rates higher than allowed.

Wong Hing Gee pleaded guilty on his own behalf and also on behalf of his partners Jack Wong, Wong Tong, Wong Chung and Wong Tung, to offering to supply meals at unreasonable prices. The matter of a rise for porterhouse steak, from 75 cents to $1.25, with other items showing other increases of a nickle or a dime apiece, resulted in each one being fined $3 and costs or five days.

Jack Wong, another cafe proprietor who offered to supply meals at prices higher than those set out in the master-menu, paid $10 or 15 days, and Wong Lin Chong, another caterer, paid a similar amount for a like-offense.

Gorman Chan pleaded guilty to a similar charge, was told to study the master-menu, and fined $15 or 20 days. A like amount was levied on Theodore Danos, still another restaurant operator.

Charles Sichkaryk, Edmonton, who failed to return to his regular work when so directed, after having terminated that employment without permission of selective service officers, was fined $25 or 30 days.

Sichkeryk, the court was told, left his job at an Edmonton dairy, saying he was physically unfit. Found to be fit when medically examined, he appealed the decision. The appeal was dismissed, but still the accused did not put in an appearance at the dairy.

Chocolate bars which had been broken were worth more than whole bars, Mr. Hawe observed, in the case of Archie Wyne of Lamont, who was present to answer to two counts of breach of wartime prices regulations.

Wyne was found guilty of selling bananas and chocolates at a price higher than "reasonable and just," after a number of witnesses testified that they had purchased and paid for the articles at the accused's store.

Wyne stated he bought two boxes of chocolate bars, one of them being broken. Putting the better pieces into cellophane bags, he sold them over the counter for 25 cents each. Witnesses stated there were approximately two bars and a half in each bag. The accused said he still lost money.

On the charge of selling bananas at an unreasonable price, he was assessed $10 or 15 days; on the second count, he was ordered to pay $25 or 30 days. Terms were ordered to run consecutively.

Mrs. Annie Strand, pleaded guilty to charging a tenant unreasonable rent for a two-room attic suite, was fined $5 or seven days. Since the charge was first laid under wartime leasehold regulations, the price she had been charging for the accommodation had been granted, it was stated.

Harry Werenka borrowed 50 cents from an acquaintance. For security he gave his billofld containing his national registration certificate. Charged with unlawfully parting with that document, he pleaded guilty before Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C. Thursday morning and was fined $50 or three months. That was the lowest penalty which could be given for the offense, said Mr. Hawe.

Joseph A. Boisvert pleaded guilty to driving at an unreasonable speed and said that when he heard the horn of a car from behind, he speeded up. When the horn continued to sound, he pulled to a stop. The second auto was a police patrol, which, the court was told, had paced the accused down the hill to 99 street and the Low Level bridge at between 45 and 50 miles an hour. He was hurrying to catch a train, the accused explained. He was fined $10 or 14 days.

Retiring

C. W. JOHNSTON

MONTREAL, July 20—Completing service that extended over half a century, Cecil W. Johnston, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways, will retire under the pension rules of the company on July 27, it was announced today by Alistair Fraser, vice-president. Mr. Johnston, one of the best-known traffic men on the continent, has seen railway service in three wars. Because of his experience in the Canadian war effort, he was elected a member of the advisory committee on passenger transport of the Office of Defence Transportation, Washington, and, also, an adviser on passenger matters to the Transport Controller for Canada.

Posse Hunting Slayer of Wife

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C., July 20—(CP)—Police and villagers last night combed the woods back of Fort Alcan, near here, for Philip Durocher, 35-year-old woodcutter, guide and trapper, who is charged with the murder of his wife, Shirley M. Durocher. The woman, her throat cut from ear to ear, staggered out of the bush early yesterday and died within a few minutes.

John Brown, wood contractor, told police that Durocher, an employee, informed him earlier he had "some family business to attend to" and that he would "be away a few minutes."

The Durochers have been separated but a few days ago agreed to forget their differences. There are two small children.

Livestock

EDMONTON, July 20—Total receipts: Cattle 330, calves 95, hogs 357, sheep 33.

There is good action on suitable butcher cattle at steady prices, but plain and common kinds are under pressure. Bulk of the offerings are of the common order and prices on this quality appear .25 lower. Wheat Futures Ease at Chicago

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—Wheat futures, after holding firm most of the session, eased back to near yesterday's closing prices in late trading today. Rye was down a cent or more from the early high points and oats held firm.

Reports of additional black rust damage to the spring wheat crop in South Dakota prompted commission house buying and short covering early in the session, but as the day wore on the demand diminished and hedging pressure increased.

Political news from Japan and Germany was interpreted by traders as indicating an early end of the war and they showed little enthusiasm to support the market.

At the close wheat was ⅛ higher to ⅜ higher, oats were ⅛ to ½ higher, rye was ⅝ to 1 cent lower, barley was unchanged to ⅛ lower.

CLOSE

Wheat: July 1.57⅞, Sept. 1.56⅝, Dec. 1.57-1.58, May 1.59⅛.

Oats: July 78½, Sept. 72⅞, Dec. 71⅝, May 71⅝-⅛.

Rye: July 1.09⅛, Sept 1.09⅞-1.10, Dec. 1.11½-1.12.

Barley: July 1.26¼, Sept. 1.14⅜, Dec. 1.14⅜, Aug. 1.18.

Cash wheat, No. 1 red, 1.57¼; oats, No. 1 mixed, 79¾-80½.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, July 20—(AP)—The stock market made a fair amount of selective progress today, under guidance of rails, but selling periods cropped up in the late proceedings and near-closing prices were somewhat spotty.

LAFF A-DAY

"Somehow, Egbert is different. He still wants to be a fireman when he grows up!"

District News in Brief

Rebuilding Plant Bowden Creamery

BOWDEN—The independent creamery, which took over the local factory from the C.A.D.P. early last spring has completed the rebuilding of the plant and will open for business the first of next week. The cream routes and patrons have not yet been arranged.

A new churn of one-ton capacity has been installed. The cold storage of eggs is included in the new features of the plant. The cold storage room for butter has been enlarged and thoroughly insulated with rubber and cork to make it an up-to-date facility. The building itself has been enlarged an a receiving shed over the platform added. All the machines for handling the cream have been motorized, making the Bowden creamery one of the newest, most up-to-date plants in the province. W. Morris, formerly of Eckville is manager.

Robert McCue, one of bowden's oldest residents celebrated his 79th birthday on Sunday. He came to this district in 1890 when the C. and E. line was being built. One of his grandfathers in County Down, Ireland, distinguished himself by living 114 years. He attributes his good health to the clear air and Alberta sunshine. With three neighbors he started the first creamery in the district which operated successfully for many years. He is an enthusiastic apiarist, taking keen delight in his honey products.

A funeral service for William Bookless, who died at his home July 12, was held from the United church on Saturday. The Rev. R. Simon of Innisfail officiated. He was buried in the Bowden cemetery.

Mr. Bookless was born in Swinton, Berwickshire, Scotland, 66 years ago and came to this country with his parents in the early 1890's. In 1896 he moved to the Nisbet district east of here where his family lives. He was married on Jan. 3, 1906, to Emma Rosenbango of Mayton district.

He was a charter member of the local Masonic Lodge and was active in lodge affairs until the time of his death. He was for more than 20 years a member of the local school board and was active in all community activities.

He is survived by his wife, one son Ralph and two daughters, Vona and Mrs. Louis Volker of this district, and two sisters, Mrs. G. H. Stone of Red Deer and Mrs. O. B. Samis of this district.

Series of Mishaps At Calmar Sports

CALMAR—A series of mishaps accompanied the sports day here. During the second ball game the grandstand collapsed under the capacity crowd watching the contest. Several people had legs and feet hurt and one Leduc citizen suffered a heart attack from which he recovered. Several spectators were struck by baseballs. The lights were blacked out during the electric storm and were not restored until midnight, the dance being held in lamplight.

The day was exceptionally good for sports and games and races for children were run off as scheduled. Baseball was the main attraction. Leduc took the first game from St. Albert. In the second encounter Calmar won from Glen Park.

The final game between Leduc and Calmar resulted in a win for the home team. Leduc took second money. A softball game between Breton and Calmar girls resulted in a win for the visitors when the game was called at the end of three innings because of darkness. A dance was held in the evening.

The newly organized Boy Scouts and Cub group performed valuable services around the sports ground during the day. Under their leaders, Mr. Ferguson and Mrs. Westlund, they formed lines at the school grounds an marched through town to the park. There they were detailed to perform their various duties. Several of them were assigned the task of keeping the spectators back from the ball diamond, and out of the players' way. This was a task in itself as the average spectator lets his enthusiasm get the best of him and keeps crowding forward at each interesting play.

When the grandstand collapsed the Scouts formed a circle with their staves to keep the crowd back. Their assistance in running errands for different committees was appreciated by those in charge.

Air Power

Mightier Superbombers

By Maj. A. P. de Seversky

Intimations that American bombers mightier by far than the B-29 Superbombers are "in the works" have just come from General Bennett E. Meyers, head of the Army Air Forces Materiel Command.

In conference with the press he declared that the B-29 is the first new plane developed since Pearl Harbor, all the others having been designed and tested earlier. That, incidentally, disposes of the claim that the P-47 Thunderbolt is a new plane, rather than a development from a much earlier prototype.

de Seversky

There is every reason to expect that the mightier bombardment aircraft hinted at by the General and as yet unkown to the public at large will be in action decisively, at least in the Pacific theatre of operations, before World War II becomes history. That the B-29 itself falls short of a decisive role is too clear by this time to need proving. Its operations are intermittent and of a purely auxiliary nature.

The reason for those limitations is in the range of the plane. That range, true enough, is longer than in any other military aircraft yet in the sky, but it happens to be still short for genuine strategic undertakings. It must work out of bases which are either themselves cut off from their sources of supply, requiring slow, tedious and very costly servicing by air across immense distances, or too small to house sufficient aerial force.

B-29 FUNCTION

The function of the B-29 Superbomber, as General Henry H. Arnold, Chief of Air Forces, has explained, is the relatively modest one of softening up Japan for our triphibious—that is to say, land, sea and air—strategy. "Softening up" is a purely teactical purpose of combined operations and should not be confused with strategic action by air power.

Strategic action would be under way if air power by its own direct and independent action seeks to destroy the enemy's means of waging war. In destroying the opposing war machine, air power would thus force the enemy nation to sue for peace. That cannot be attempted with the B-29, even if such strategy were considered desirable by the minds in control of our war plans.

The B-29, by reason of its inadequate range, requires advance bases from which to operate. These bases must be conquered, held and supplied. That calls for operations on land and sea so colossal that it absorbs a lion's share of the national manpower and resources thereby preventing the full exploitation of the air power potential. Moreover, the surface operations to obtain bases cannot be successful without support of aviation, thereby siphoning off air power for a secondary or tactical purpose.

Such is the vicious circle formed by the physical fact of inadequate range in our present aircraft. It is a circle that can only be broken by the construction of the kind of bigger bombers referred to by General Meyers. Those bigger aircraft will differ from the B-29 in the fact that they will be able to strike at Japan from primary bases such as those in Alaska, Australia and India. These bases are already safely in our hands; they don't have to be fought for. Secondly, they are vast enough to accommodate equipment of the necessary magnitude. Finally, they are beyond the range of hostile land and sea forces and therefore immune to the kind of surprise assaults that may be expected by small islands scattered in the Pacific.

TACTICAL WEAPON

The assumption that the war will be won exclusively with Liberators and Flying Fortresses may prove unjustified, certainly as far as the Pacific theatre is concerned. Even the B-29, which is a valuable contribution to our growing air power, is still admittedly a tactical weapon.

The final decision, determining the victory, may have to wait until the arrival of the airplane of tomorrow—for which leading airmen have been clamoring for five years, and which is at long last on its way, according to General Meyers.

There was a time when airmen were rebuked for wishing "to fight today's war with tomorrow's weapons." Now we have reached a stage where decisive action may have to wait until tomorrow's weapons, unduly postponed because of strategic timidity, are made available.

Western Airman Given Command Of Fighter Unit

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN NORMANDY, July 20.—(CP)—Flt.-Lt. John F. McElroy, D.F.C., of Kamloops, B.C., 23-year-old Canadian fighter ace of Malta, has taken over command of the R.C.A.F. City of Oshawa Spitfire squadron of the Second Tactical Air Force, it was announced last night.

He succeeds Sqdn. Ldr. Fred Green, D.F.C., of Toronto, who was injured in a crash landing after his aircraft was hit by flak. Green's injuries, though not serious, will keep him on the ground for some time.

McElroy, whose score is seven enemy aircraft destroyed, 3½ probably destroyed and eight damaged, has himself been shot down three times, once since D-Day. The last time he escaped injury and was back in the air a short time later, shooting down two German aircraft.

Air Force Ships Built at Coast

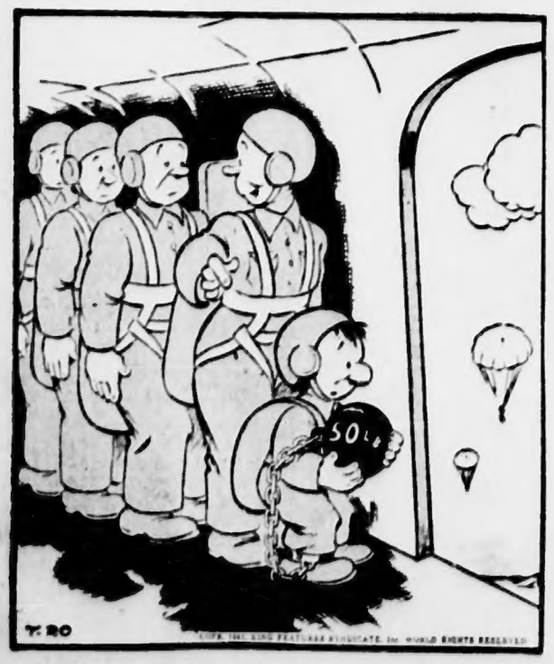

NANAIMO, B.C., July 20—(CP)—The first 114-foot Royal Canadian Air Force supply ship built here will slide down the ways at Newcastle Island shipbuilding yards Thursday. Mrs. L. F. Stevenson, wife of Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson, will launch the vessel which is to be chirstened the Hesquiat. Within the last two weeks shipbuilding yards here have delivered two 60-foot R.C.A.F. supply ships, the Babine and the Sooke. H.M.C.S. Coquitlam will be formally commissioned at Nanaimo, July 25.
